L.A. School District Says Integration Order Disaster

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for the city school system, second largest in the nation, say they will ask the California Court of Appeals to overturn a judge's order that all schools be fully integrated by September 1971.

School Supt. Robert E. Kelly said the order Wednesday by Superior Court Judge Alfred Gitelson would have "disastrous economic effects."

The 711-square-mile district has more than 653,000 pupils in 533 elementary and secondary schools, second in size only to New York City. Kelly said implementation of Gitelson's ruling would require busing of more than 240,000 youngsters — many over long distances.

He estimated the cost at $40 million the first year and $20 million each year thereafter.

The superintendent said $26 million has been slashed from school programs this year and to continue operations next year another cut of $34 million to $54 million appeared unavoidable because of failure of bond issue proposals and cutbacks in state allocations.

"To take another $40 million out of anticipated revenue to initiate a mass busing program would mean a virtual destruction of the district," Kelly declared.

The 103-page Gitelson ruling came in response to a suit filed in 1963 by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) on behalf of a number of Caucasian and Negro pupils.

The district was ordered to

Urge O'Brien To Take Top Demo Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien, widely considered the Democrat's top professional, is reported under pressure by Hubert H. Humphrey and other influential members to return as the party's national chairman.

Democratic sources said O'Brien appears to be reconsidering his previous stance that the factors that led him to give up the post and return to private life last year are still valid. The 52-year-old O'Brien is regarded by many political pros as a man who could unite the party without being suspected of using the job as a stepping stone to higher office.

That was one criticism directed at Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, who has resigned the chairmanship as of March 5. The same doubt also would apply to ambassador to France Sargent Shriver, who is being pushed for the party post by Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, and others.

Until O'Brien decides, party sources say any other speculation on a possible chairman is premature.

However, James Wimmer, Wisconsin Democratic state chairman, says he has been approached by a Humphrey aide about taking over when Harris steps down.

submit a master plan for integration by June 1 and to get it started by next September. Full integration must take place by September 1971, the court said.

Gitelson directed that the integration plan distribute students in such a manner that no one school would have more than 50 per cent or less than 10 per cent minority students.

The ACLU which was awarded $60,000 from the school district in attorneys' fees, had argued:

"Minority students educated in segregated schools are placed in a 'cradle-to-grave track system' which insures that, as a result of the inferior education received by them in segregated schools, they will receive the worst of that which American society provides."

Attorneys for the school district argued that racial imbalance in the schools resulted from housing patterns which were not the fault or responsibility of the district.

They said school officials not only favored integration but encouraged it wherever feasible.

The Board of Education said a survey last fall showed 48.4 per cent of students have minority backgrounds and 12 of the 48 secondary schools had 90 per cent or more minority enrollment. Eight of these were mainly black, four mainly Mexican-American.

Administration Backs Timber Cutting Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has stamped its "complete approval" on a controversial timber cutting bill that ran into a cross-fire between conservationists and the lumber industry.

The administration's decision to throw its support behind the measure Wednesday delighted House supporters, who had quickly withdrawn it from floor consideration last week in the face of heavy absenteeism, opposition from conservationists, and reports of troubles ahead.

Despite the administration boost, however, a sharp fight is expected when the measure is rescheduled by the House leadership, a step that is not expected at least until late this month.

Although the bill provides for replanting and selected thinning programs, conservationists feel it puts too much emphasis on timber cutting at the expense of protection for watersheds, fish and wildlife, grazing and recreation.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin said the administration feels the legislation "will greatly promote improved forest management practices and is essential to improving the timber producing capacity of the national forests within use and sustained yield principles."

George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, also issued a statement endorsing the bill.

"In the next five years, domestic timber requirements for use in residential construction alone will almost double," Roney said. "Without the substantial increase in timber production which the enactment of his legislation will encourage, it will be difficult, if not impossible, to build the homes Americans need."

Hardin said the bill has his department's complete approval and added the Bureau of the Budget—which last August suggested a delay on the legislation—has "no objection to the presentation of this report from the standpoint of the administration's program."

The secretary said some changes suggested by his department have been made in the original draft to meet objections by conservationists.

10-Year Program At Killbuck Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Natural Resources Director Fred Morr says a consulting firm hired to study ways to preserve the Killbuck Wildlife Area in Wayne County has recommended a 10-year program costing $3.7 million.

Stanley Consultants of Cleveland recommended development of the 7,000-acre area centered around preservation of the marsh area, nature study, limited canoeing, hunting, hiking and primitive camping.

ACLU To Seek Voice In Suit At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati branch of the American Civil Liberties Union plans to intervene in a taxpayer's case aimed at striking down wage hikes granted to municipal workers.

Attorney Jerome Goldman, on behalf of Mitchell Goldberg, has filed a taxpayer's suit to prevent the city from giving the increases since they were won during a five-week strike.

The attorney, an ACLU member, contends that Ohio's Ferguson act prohibits strikes by municipal employees and therefore boosts they agreed upon cannot be legally granted.

Judge William R. Matthews of the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court will hear the case on its merits Monday. He continued the case Wednesday.

Rogers Visits Black Africa For Meetings

Had Outlined Mideast Policy For Nasser Benefit

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers turned his attention today to the problems of black Africa after outlining the Nixon administration's policy on the Middle East for eventual relay to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Rogers met for an hour and 15 minutes Wednesday night with Yugoslavia's President Tito, who by coincidence also was visiting the Ethiopian capital. Tito flew to Kenya today and next weekend goes on to the Sudan, Egypt and Libya.

American officials reported Rogers and Tito agreed an effort should be made to secure an embargo on arms deliveries to both Israel and the Arab states. But a far more meaningful result of the meeting was the clear picture of the American position which Tito can now present to Nasser.

U.S. officials pointed out before the meeting that Tito's relations with the revolutionary Arab leaders—and with Nasser in particular—are much closer than those of the United States and that the Yugoslav leader could play a constructive role in efforts to find a negotiated settlement. Ex-Yablonski Aide Raps U.S. Probe

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A close adviser to slain United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph A. Yablonski says the government is limiting itself to a "patty-cake investigation" into the union.

Attorney Joseph L. Rau Jr. also said that District 5, headed by Michael Budzanoski, "is one of the most corrupt districts in the UMW." Yablonski was former head of the district.

Budzanoski, present at an Americans for Democratic Action dinner attended by 700 persons Wednesday night, charged to the podium, demanded equal time to answer the charge, then angrily stalked out of the room when he was refused.

"It's a rotten shame," Budzanoski shouted as he left the room along with several other District 5 officials. He later denied the accusation.

Yablonski and his wife and daughter were shot to death Dec. 31, a few weeks after he was defeated in an attempt to unseat W. A. "Tony" Boyle, president of the UMW, in a union election.

"The miners of America should have the right to run their union and their lives. It's time to cut out this patty-cake investigation and really find out what happened in the election," Rau said.

Budzanoski later told newsmen, "My district is not corrupt. There is no corruption in my union as far as I'm concerned. I threatened to put my friends in jail if there was trouble in the elections."

5 Bills Moved In Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two bills received House approval and three bills were recommended for Senate passage Wednesday.

The bills passed by the House called for higher jury pay and special driver tests for the illiterate and non-English speaking persons.

The bills recommended for Senate passage by the Senate Judiciary Committee would allow judges to issue inspection search warrants, give 18-year-olds the right to give blood without parental permission and would trade state and private land for highway use.

The inspection warrant bill, sponsored by State Sen. William Taft, R-26 Cincinnati, would allow judges to issue warrants that would force building owners to submit their property for inspection.

George Thompson of the Ohio Department of Health said the bill was needed because numerous people have refused to allow the health and fire departments to inspect for violations. If someone refuses, Thompson said, the inspectors cannot take any further action because of U.S. Supreme Court ruling that said inspections are the equivalent of a search and require a warrant.

Taft said present Ohio law

Approval Of Proposed Vocational School Sought

A proposal for a joint Ross-Pickaway Vocational School was presented to school officials of the 10 districts involved at a meeting held at Chillicothe High School Wednesday.

Each board of education was asked to pass a resolution confirming its interest in developing the proposed joint vocational school.

Schools involved in the proposal are Circleville, Westfall and Logan Elm from Pickaway County; Chillicothe, Adena, Huntington, Paint Valley, Scioto Valley, Union-Scioto and Zane Trace from Ross County.

Teays Valley was not included in the proposal because board members there have expressed interest in joining with Eastland Vocational District in Franklin County.

THE proposed Ross-Pickaway Vocational District would have a tax base of $301,060,664.

Total estimated cost of the proposed school, including building and equipment costs, site and site improvement, architectural fee and contingency is $4,040,665.

With the State Department of Education participating on a 50-50 matching basis, it would require an estimated .54 mills (a little over one-half mill) to be voted on a bond issue for construction purposes by voters of the districts involved.

Total estimated operating costs of the school amount to $855,000. The state would reimburse the local vocational district to the tune of $335,000, according to the proposal.

This would leave $520,000 local operating costs to be raised, which would require an operating levy of 1.75 mills be passed by the voters of the district.

Total additional millage would be 2.27 for the vocational school.

THE initial board of education for the joint vocational school would be made up of nine members. Three members would be appointed from Chillicothe and two each for (Continued on Page 2)

Student Organizers Plan New Spring Antiwar Drive

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A new national anti-Vietnam War drive "to scare the hell out of the administration" will be planned this weekend at Case Western Reserve University here.

A nationwide student strike April 15 and other spring anti-war activities are to be formulated at the conference. An estimated 2,200 to 3,000 persons from across the nation are expected to attend.

Don Gurwitz, a national staff member of the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC), said Wednesday: "We in the anti-war movement know that President Nixon is not ending the war in Vietnam and the anti-war movement must go on."

He said the new drive was designed "to scare the hell out of the administration." He said SMC objects to the size of American troops withdrawals so far and contends Nixon intends to keep 200,000 to 300,000 support troops in Vietnam after combat troops are removed. "That obviously isn't an end to the war," he said.

Crashes Take Lives Of 4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS An automobile-train collision in Lucas County killed one man early Thursday, while traffic collisions in other parts of the state took at least three lives.

The dead: MAUMEE — Robert Emans, 50, of Maumee, was killed when his automobile was struck by a Norfolk and Western freight train at a crossing in Maumee.

ELYRIA — George Landin Jr., 26, of Oberlin, was killed late Wednesday when his automobile went out of control on Ohio 38 and struck a tree north of Wellington in Lorain County.

CINCINNATI — Jeanne Janzen, 31, of Forest Park, Cincinnati suburb, was killed Wednesday in an automobile collision at the intersection of Ohio 4 and Interstate 275 near her home.

SPRINGFIELD — Robert Hall, 33, of Fairfield, Butler County, died in a Springfield hospital early today of injuries received late Wednesday in an automobile collision on Ohio 235 near New Carlisle in Clark County.

Thirteen witnesses testified during PUCO hearings Tuesday and Wednesday which were adjourned until Feb. 17.

The stipulation provided that Ohio Bell services in effect on Jan. 1 would establish the basis for providing the additional revenue.

Specifics have not been worked out yet, but higher telephone rates are expected to be general among the 470 cities and communities served by the company.

Ohio Bell's original request asked for rate increases ranging from $1.30 to $1.85 per month on residential service and $1.65 to $3.55 per month on business service.

The company contended it needed the money to meet increased labor and operations costs, for higher taxes and to carry on an expansion program.

Bomb Guns Said Used Against Copter

SAIGON (AP) — Exercising their "inherent right of self-defense," American warplanes bombed North Vietnamese guns in Cambodia that shot down a U.S. observation helicopter. The attack Wednesday occurred in the border region where 246 North Vietnamese have been reported killed in six days of hard fighting.

The result of the bomber strike was not announced. The helicopter exploded in the air, and the two crewmen were believed killed.

The U.S. Command said the helicopter was cruising along South Vietnam's side of the border about 80 miles west of Saigon. It was searching for remnants of two enemy battalions that South Vietnamese ground troops and allied planes have been battling in the Plain of Reeds since the North Vietnamese were intercepted last Friday on their way toward the lower Mekong Delta.

It was the first reported aircraft raid across the Cambodian border in two months. On Dec. 3, U.S. fighters bombed and strafed gun positions in the same area after the guns shelled allied frontier posts. Two weeks ago U.S. artillery fired into Cambodia in retaliation for an attack on a firebase in Hau Nghia Province west of Saigon.

U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said on Wednesday in Saigon that American forces would continue to reply in kind to attacks from across the borders of Cambodia, Laos and North Vietnam. The U.S. Command says its forces have returned fire across the Cambodian frontier six times in the past year.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported another 39 North Vietnamese troops killed by allied fighter-bombers in the continuing ground and air action in the Plain of Reeds along the frontier.

Two other U.S. helicopters crashed in the central highlands killing four Americans and four South Vietnamese and injuring three Americans and 36 government troops.

Near An Khe, enemy gunners shot down the helicopter that carried the four Americans who were killed. The other crash occurred 150 miles south of An Khe when a big Chinook troop carrier lost power after taking off from Dalat.

Sizable American losses were reported for the second day in succession from the northern provinces. U.S. Marine spokesmen at Da Nang said nine Marines were killed and three wounded 26 miles south of Da Nang today when an enemy force in well concealed positions opened fire on a patrol of more than 45 Leathernecks.

Most of the American casualties apparently occurred in the first attacks, before artillery, helicopter gunships, fighter-bombers and Marine and Army reinforcements were rushed in to aid the patrol.

The enemy withdrew after about 3 hours, and his casualties were not known.

"WITH malice toward none; with charity for all"; is a memorable phrase included in the second inaugural address of Abraham Lincoln, the man whose birthday Americans recognize today, Feb. 12.

It was during his second term of office as the country's leader he was victim of an assassin's bullet in 1865. Student Organizers Plan New Spring Antiwar Drive

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A new national anti-Vietnam War drive "to scare the hell out of the administration" will be planned this weekend at Case Western Reserve University here.

A nationwide student strike April 15 and other spring anti-war activities are to be formulated at the conference. An estimated 2,200 to 3,000 persons from across the nation are expected to attend.

Don Gurwitz, a national staff member of the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC), said Wednesday: "We in the anti-war movement know that President Nixon is not ending the war in Vietnam and the anti-war movement must go on."

He said the new drive was designed "to scare the hell out of the administration." He said SMC objects to the size of American troops withdrawals so far and contends Nixon supports to keep 200,000 to 300,000 support troops in Vietnam after combat troops are removed. "That obviously isn't an end to the war," he said.

Gurwitz said he expected spring anti-war protests to be peaceful because "the thing the students have got to do is not to alienate themselves against the adults."

Gurwitz was asked if a proposal to give high school students more political and legal freedom would alienate adults. He said adults would have to be made to understand students' desires.

The meeting is expected to bring together Black Panthers, the Weathermen faction of Students for a Democratic Society, liberal Democrats, conservative Republicans, anti-war servicemen and union representatives.

Gurwitz explained that SMC doesn't care about other beliefs, just that everyone be anti-war.

Another anti-war leader, Dr. Sidney Peck of Case Western Reserve, said the conference was not only to bring together anti-war sympathizers but "to bring out oppression stemming from the administration."

Phone Rate Action Near

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Bell Telephone Co.'s rate increase request appeared today to be headed for quick action after the company pacified opponents by trimming its proposal.

Ohio Bell agreed Wednesday to reduce its increase request from $90 million to $55 million annually on the stipulation that protesting cities and businesses do not appeal if the lower amount is approved by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

The agreement included a good faith clause to speed work on an adjusted rate structure to provide the new revenue.

It stated the parties agreed to "use their best efforts" to arrive at a recommended rate schedule to take effect next April 1.

Ohio Bell attorney Dean G. Ostrum told the PUCO Wednesday lawyers for six intervening cities and several businesses had worked with the company to reach the agreement.

Chairman Carl Johnson said the commission would give the stipulation thoughtful consideration and promised a speedy decision.

Thirteen witnesses testified during PUCO hearings Tuesday and Wednesday which were adjourned until Feb. 17.

The stipulation provided that Ohio Bell services in effect on Jan. 1 would establish the basis for providing the additional revenue.

Specifics have not been worked out yet, but higher telephone rates are expected to be general among the 470 cities and communities served by the company.

Ohio Bell's original request asked for rate increases ranging from $1.30 to $1.85 per month on residential service and $1.65 to $3.55 per month on business service.

The company contended it needed the money to meet increased labor and operations costs, for higher taxes and to carry on an expansion program.

5 Bills Moved In Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two bills received House approval and three bills were recommended for Senate passage Wednesday.

The bills passed by the House called for higher jury pay and special driver tests for the illiterate and non-English speaking persons.

The bills recommended for Senate passage by the Senate Judiciary Committee would allow judges to issue inspection search warrants, give 18-year-olds the right to give blood without parental permission and would trade state and private land for highway use.

The inspection warrant bill, sponsored by State Sen. William Taft, R-26 Cincinnati, would allow judges to issue warrants that would force building owners to submit their property for inspection.

George Thompson of the Ohio Department of Health said the bill was needed because numerous people have refused to allow the health and fire departments to inspect for violations.

If someone refuses, Thompson said, the inspectors cannot take any further action because of U.S. Supreme Court ruling that said inspections are the equivalent of a search and require a warrant.

Taft said present Ohio law does not make any provision for inspections warrants. A similar bill was passed during the last session by the House.

The land transfer recommended by the committee involves about 18 acres of state land near Interstate 80 between Akron and Youngstown. Land now owned by the state would be deeded to the Standard and Sun Oil Co.'s in exchange for $72,000 and land owned by the companies.

The bill's sponsor, State Sen. Robert Stockdale, R-31 Kent, said the companies' land is better located for planned state maintenance garages.

A bill introduced in the House Wednesday by State Reps. E. W. Lampson, R-38 Jefferson, and A. G. Lancione, D-30, Belaire, would require all county sheriffs to have a high school diploma and at least four years of law enforcement experience.

The bill, similar to one that died in the Senate last year, would also require sheriffs to be between 25 and 60 years old.

Only two years of experience would be necessary for a sheriff with a college degree in a law enforcement field.

Sen. Ralph Regula, R-29 Navarre, introduced a bill Wednesday that would create a seven-member Council of Environmental Affairs.

Hold Woman Indicted In Vice Probe

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—An Indiana woman who was among six persons accused by a federal grand jury of violating interstate prostitution laws surrendered to a U.S. marshal here Wednesday.

Rita Eddington, 35, of Gorverson, Ind., was released a few hours later on $15,000 bond.

The grand jury indictments returned Monday followed an investigation of activities at the Around-the-Clock restaurant south of Toledo in Ottawa County.

Five of those indicted have been arrested while the sixth, who has not been identified by federal officials, remains at large.

Arrested by FBI agents within hours after the indictments were returned Monday were Maxine Scott, also known as Nancy Maxwell, 43, and Joseph "Holy Joe" D'Angelo, 47, both of the Cleveland suburb of Brecksville, and Norman D. Lincoln, 68, of Toledo.

Lillian Pasco Belt, owner of the restaurant who was indicted on charges of income tax evasion and aiding and abetting interstate prostitution, was taken into custody at Phoenix, Ariz.

A week-long investigation by the grand jury reportedly included testimony from present and former Ottawa County officials, restaurant personnel and cab drivers.

Evidence uncovered by federal agents and presented to the grand jury indicated the restaurant was a house of prostitution, according to Charles G. Cusick, special agent in charge of the FBI in Cleveland.

The council would be delegated to study problems of soil erosion, noise and air and water pollution.

Also in the Senate Wednesday, William Bowen, a Cincinnati insurance agent was sworn in as Senate member to replace Calvin C. Johnson who resigned. Bowen, who resigned his House seat Tuesday, was replaced by Edward B. Burden.

The House passed 61-27 a bill permitting county commissioners to double the present $10 per day jury pay. Critics argued it would only add to the problems of already hard-pressed counties.

The house also passed a bill 90-1 to permit special motor vehicle tests for illiterates and non-English speaking persons.

In a 92-0 vote the House passed a bill allowing university branch districts to issue bonds and notes.

Among other bills introduced in the legislature Wednesday were those that would:

— Remove commercial and industrial buildings from present laws providing up to a 10-year property tax exemption on new construction.

— Permit Ohioans that move to another state to cast absentee presidential ballots until they qualify as voters in the other state.

— Authorize payments up to $300 for teachers who suffer personal property damage or losses due to malicious destruction while on duty.

— Give the Department of Health authority to inspect and license nursing homes owned by a city or county as well as those privately owned.

— Require the state welfare department to make all aid to aged payments to recipients rather than pay the recipients' taxes directly to the state auditor.

Israeli Jets Blast Egyptian Targets Both Sides Of Cairo

TEL AVIV (AP)— Israeli jets blasted Egyptian military targets north and south of Cairo and a radar site 24 miles west of the Suez Canal in two raids today, the Israeli military command reported.

An Israeli spokesman said the planes first attacked equipment and ammunition stores at El Khanqa, 12 miles north of Cairo, and the radar site at Jebel Awbed, on the Cairo-Suez railroad. Two hours later, the spokesman said, Israeli planes hit a military camp near Dahshur, 23 miles south of Cairo on the Nile, and military targets in the central sector of the canal.

All the Israeli planes returned safely, the spokesman said. Pilots reported accurate hits in both strikes.

It was the 10th Israeli air raid on targets around Cairo since Jan. 7. Both El Khanqa and Dahshur have been hit previously.

The command in Tel Aviv also said a mobile Israeli army canteen was found abandoned along the southern sector of the canal Wednesday, and its two occupants apparently had been abducted by Egyptians. The Egyptians claimed earlier they had crossed the canal, wounded 20 Israeli soldiers and captured two in an ambush on an army patrol.

Police Arrest Man For Disturbance

With a record of run-ins with the law, a Chillicothe man has added two more charges in Circleville to his recent series of violations.

Sherrick was arrested by city police slightly after midnight Wednesday morning when he attempted to enter the home of Michael J. Hudak, 519 E. Main St. Sherrick's ex-wife is currently living at the same address.

Appearing in Municipal Court Wednesday afternoon, Sherrick was fined $20 and costs for intoxication and placed under $500 bond on a charge of attempted breaking and entering. He is currently being held in the Pickaway County jail, pending a Feb. 18 appearance before the court on the second charge.

Mrs. Sherrick received a divorce in Chillicothe recently on grounds of neglect and cruelty. She was granted custody of their four children and support.

Sherrick was acquitted by a Ross County petit jury several weeks ago on a charge of firing a shotgun at a daughter, Carol. The blast narrowly missed her head. He had been found guilty earlier and served a term in jail, on a charge of discharging firearms in the city in the same incident.

Intoxication Tops Docket

Of 17 cases appearing in Municipal Court Wednesday, four persons were cited for disorderly conduct and intoxication.

Onno Wilson, American Hotel and Robert Reynolds, Circleville, each paid $100 fines on the charges. Thelma F. Boysel, Circleville, forfeited $24 and Thomas Sherrick, Chillicothe, paid a $20 fine for the same charge.

Frank Moore, 670 E. Ohio St., forfeited $21.91 for failure to keep his dog confined to his property.

In traffic violations, John Eitel III, 18, Orient and George B. Elsass, 27, Chillicothe, were each fined $50 for reckless operation. Elsass also received a one year suspension of his license.

Robert Blankenship, Route 3, forfeited $24 bond for a stop sign violation.

Jack C. Good, Frankfort, 18, paid $43 in fines and costs on charges of running a red light and speeding 45 in a 35 mile zone.

A little joy riding cost Mary Olney, 36 and Richard Lewis, 40, both of Columbus $49 each when they forfeited bonds by failing to appear in court. Each was cited for speeding in a 60 mile zone.

Other forfeitures on speeding charges totaled $101.

Father Is Charged With Non-Support

A Laurelville man was bound over to the grand jury Wednesday by Judge Sterling Lamb where he was charged with non-support.

Charles Hurst was placed under $500 bond for neglecting payments of support for a nine-year-old child. He entered a plea of guilty and will appear before the grand jury in their March term.

Circleville, Pickaway County and Ross County.

On the original board, Chillicothe will have two members serving for four years and one for two years. The other districts would each have one two-year member and one four-year member.

After the original appointment, board members would be elected by the district voters as terms expire.

Proposed curricular areas included Agriculture, Business and office education, distributive education, home economics and health and trade and industrial education.

James Shope, a Ross County superintendent of schools, chaired the meeting. He urged boards of education to act on the resolutions as quickly as possible. A deadline of Feb. 27 was set for the resolutions to be returned.

Shope asked that if any school district involved had strong objections to the proposed jointure to voice them at last night's meeting. After the makeup of the board was amended, it gave Pickaway County two members and Chillicothe three. No objection was made.

IF one board of education fails to adopt the resolution of interest in the proposal, a new one must be rewritten.

The State Board of Education has set a deadline of April 1 for vocational school proposals to be submitted for approval.

Present state guidelines require that vocational education be provided for juniors and seniors and any student 16-years old or over enrolled in grades 7, 8, 9 or 10.

The vocational plan is required to be implemented by 1974.

Parking Tickets Back In Supply

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)— For 10 days the supply of traffic tickets was so low that police and parking meter maids wrote citations only when someone complained, like when someone howled about a car parked in a driveway.

The normal volume of 500 tickets a day dwindled to a trickle.

An order of 200,000 citations was late because the clerk of Municipal Court had asked for some minor changes.

An emergency batch of 50 books arrived this week and it's motorists beware.

Army To 'Reorient Thinking' About Guard And Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP)— With the regular Army being cut back, Gen. William C. Westmoreland has told his top aides "it is time now to reorient our thinking" and strengthen the reserves.

"As we look to the future, we see a period of reduction in the over-all strength and capabilities of the active Army and a period wherein we must place increasing reliance on the capabilities of our Army reserve components," the chief of staff said.

In a memo to the heads of Army staff agencies, Westmoreland said they will be required to make the Army National Guard and reserve "full partners on our Army team" with material, personnel, and "improved recognition and cooperation."

He made clear he expects all of his key generals and their staffs to drop any attitude of noncooperation with the reserves.

Reserve officers have complained the regulars have given backup forces only reluctant support, often relegating the guard and reserve to second-class status.

Westmoreland's memorandum was circulated in late December. A copy has become available as new attention is being focused on the role of the guard and reserve in the U.S. defense structure after Vietnam.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird indicated recently an all-volunteer force—a major objective of the Nixon administration—will be possible only if there is a "large, up-to-date, modern, well-equipped reserve and National Guard."

The regular Army, along with the other services, is being reduced in strength as the United States withdraws gradually from Vietnam and heads into a period of probable disengagement from overseas defense commitments.

Five of those indicted have been arrested while the sixth, who has not been identified by federal officials, remains at large.

Arrested by FBI agents within hours after the indictments were returned Monday were Maxine Scott, also known as Nancy Maxwell, 43, and Joseph "Holy Joe" D'Angelo, 47, both of the Cleveland suburb of Brecksville, and Norman D. Lincoln, 68, of Toledo.

Lillian Pasco Belt, owner of the restaurant who was indicted on charges of income tax evasion and aiding and abetting interstate prostitution, was taken into custody at Phoenix, Ariz.

A week-long investigation by the grand jury reportedly included testimony from present and former Ottawa County officials, restaurant personnel and cab drivers.

Evidence uncovered by federal agents and presented to the grand jury indicated the restaurant was a house of prostitution, according to Charles G. Cusick, special agent in charge of the FBI in Cleveland.

Israeli Jets Blast Egyptian Targets Both Sides Of Cairo

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets blasted Egyptian military targets north and south of Cairo and a radar site 24 miles west of the Suez Canal in two raids today, the Israeli military command reported.

An Israeli spokesman said the planes first attacked equipment and ammunition stores at El Khanga, 12 miles north of Cairo, and the radar site at Jebel Awed, on the Cairo-Suez railroad. Two hours later, the spokesman said, Israeli planes hit a military camp near Dahshur, 23 miles south of Cairo on the Nile, and military targets in the central sector of the canal.

All the Israeli planes returned safely, the spokesman said. Pilots reported accurate hits in both strikes.

It was the 10th Israeli air raid on targets around Cairo since Jan. 7. Both El Khanga and Dahshur have been hit previously.

The command in Tel Aviv also said a mobile Israeli army canteen was found abandoned along the southern sector of the canal Wednesday, and its two occupants apparently had been abducted by Egyptians. The Egyptians claimed earlier they had crossed the canal, wounded 20 Israeli soldiers and captured two in an ambush on an army patrol.

The Israeli spokesman said the Egyptian probably were referring to the canteen truck and denied there had been an attack on a patrol.

The Israeli army put a dusk-to-dawn curfew on the entire Gaza Strip which was seized from Egypt in the 1967 war and for 300 yards out to sea. No reason was given, but Gaza has been the scene of numerous sabotage attacks on vehicles and rail lines.

In Amman, the Jordanian capital, tension eased following a meeting between King Hussein and Arab guerrilla leaders who had vowed to resist with force new security measures imposed by Hussein's government. The king assured the guerrillas that the new measures were not aimed at restricting their freedom of action. An official announcement quoted a commando representative as saying the conference was "a positive one."

Security forces patrolled Amman's streets today, and roadblocks at the city limits checked cars for arms. Scattered shooting broke out Wednesday night, and the Al Fatah guerrilla movement claimed in a broadcast from Cairo that several Jordanian soldiers had been wounded in a clash. But the government issued a special communique denying this.

After the original appointment, board members would be elected by the district voters as terms expire.

Proposed curricular areas included Agriculture, Business and office education, distributive education, home economics and health and trade and industrial education.

James Shope, a Ross County superintendent of schools, chaired the meeting. He urged boards of education to act on the resolutions as quickly as possible. A deadline of Feb. 27 was set for the resolutions to be returned.

Shope asked that if any school district involved had strong objections to the proposed jointure to voice them at last night's meeting. After the makeup of the board was amended, it gave Pickaway County two members and Chillicothe three. No objection was made.

IF one board of education fails to adopt the resolution of interest in the proposal, a new one must be rewritten.

The State Board of Education has set a deadline of April 1 for vocational school proposals to be submitted for approval.

Present state guidelines require that vocational education be provided for juniors and seniors and any student 16-years old or over enrolled in grades 7, 8, 9 or 10.

The vocational plan is required to be implemented by 1974.

Sherrick was arrested by city police slightly after midnight Wednesday morning when he attempted to enter the home of Michael J. Hudak, 519 E. Main St. Sherrick's ex-wife is currently living at the same address.

Appearing in Municipal Court Wednesday afternoon, Sherrick was fined $20 and costs for intoxication and placed under $500 bond on a charge of attempted breaking and entering. He is currently being held in the Pickaway County jail, pending a Feb. 18 appearance before the court on the second charge.

Mrs. Sherrick received a divorce in Chillicothe recently on grounds of neglect and cruelty. She was granted custody of their four children and support.

Sherrick was acquitted by a Ross County petit jury several weeks ago on a charge of firing a shotgun at a daughter, Carol. The blast narrowly missed her head. He had been found guilty earlier and served a term in jail, on a charge of discharging firearms in the city in the same incident.

OF 17 cases appearing in Municipal Court Wednesday, four persons were cited for disorderly conduct and intoxication.

Onno Wilson, American Hotel and Robert Reynolds, Circleville, each paid $100 fines on the charges. Thelma F. Boyse, Chillicothe, forfeited $24 and Thomas Sherrick, Chillicothe, paid a $20 fine for the same charge.

Frank Moore, 670 E. Ohio St., forfeited $21.91 for failure to keep his dog confined to his property.

In traffic violations, John Eitel III, 18, Orient and George B. Elsass, 27, Chillicothe, were each fined $50 for reckless operation. Elsass also received a one year suspension of his license.

Robert Blankenship, Route 3, forfeited $24 bond for a stop sign violation.

Jack C. Good, Frankfort, 18, paid $43 in fines and costs on charges of running a red light and speeding 45 in a 35 mile zone.

A little joy riding cost Mary Olney, 36 and Richard Lewis, 40, both of Columbus $49 each when they forfeited bonds by failing to appear in court. Each was cited for speeding in a 60 mile zone.

Other forfeitures on speeding charges totaled $101.

Father Is Charged With Non-Support

A Laurelville man was bound over to the grand jury Wednesday by Judge Sterling Lamb when he was charged with non-support.

Charles Hurst was placed under $500 bond for neglecting payments of support for a nine-year-old child. He entered a plea of guilty and will appear before the grand jury in their March term.

City Police Check Theft

Dennis Capper reported to Circleville City Police that a right rear wheel bearing was taken from his truck parked at his residence, 1234 Wheeler Ave. on Wednesday.

Chief Temple indicated charges of both theft and vandalism would be sought in the case as brake lines were twisted in the rear of the truck when the theft was committed.

City police also are investigating the report of three money bags missing from Circleville Oil Co., corner of Court and Watt Sts. Robert Call informed police the bags contained $382.50 and disappeared during the oil company's business day Wednesday.

Air Controllers Again Plan Restriction On Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air traffic controllers have served notice they may start restricting some services next Sunday — a move the Federal Aviation Administration says would be an illegal strike.

The threat disclosed Tuesday by the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization—PATCO—is the latest round in a dispute over working conditions stretching back for more than a year.

PATCO, which represents 7,800 of FAA's 8,500 journeymen controllers, claims its members now do more than required by their work contract and by government regulations. They say, for example, they allow flights to land more frequently than called for by the contract and rules.

This, coupled with inadequate manpower and antiquated equipment puts too heavy a strain on the controllers, the organization says.

Similar complaints have led to slowdowns at the nation's airports in past months that tied up air traffic for hours and left thousands of passengers stranded at terminals.

The latest effort to settle the dispute floundered when the FAA and PATCO officials could not agree on a meeting.

FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer turned down a request by Michael Rock, PATCO board chairman, for a session with Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe.

Shaffer said it would be difficult for him or Volpe to meet with PATCO officers in view of public statements by Rock.

In a Jan. 23 telegram, Rock told Volpe the PATCO directors had resolved that as of Feb. 15 "all optional air traffic services rendered by our membership, above those required by contract and by regulations," would be withdrawn.

The resolution said the withdrawal referred particularly to "services of the many controllers who are in a condition of fatigue" and "are entitled to a period of respite for reasons of health."

Shaffer replied to Rock's telegram by saying that withholding services would be a disservice to PATCO's members.

The FAA chief said the controller has the most to lose from a slowdown. He said it would be most unfortunate if those workers would have to bear the brunt of illegal actions proposed by the PATCO officers.

But he also said it is impossible for Volpe or him to discuss issues of overtime work with PATCO representatives because of a court suit brought by the organization.

PATCO asked the U. S. District Court Jan. 13 for an injunction to prevent the FAA from working weary traffic controllers overtime or under conditions of strain.

Claim Government Is Lax On Nursing Home Safety

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional inquiry into a tragic Ohio nursing home fire has raised the question of whether federal billions have been spent to put elderly Americans in quiet places for their twilight years or in potential crematoriums.

"The lives of thousands of elderly patients are in jeopardy right now, today," charged one witness at hearings that concluded Tuesday after bringing out that:

The nation's old-age health program, Medicare, imposes no firm fire safety requirements on the nursing homes that, in 1968, took a half a billion dollars in payments.

—The government's own proposed test of flammability for carpeting and rugs would allow to remain on the market the type of carpet authorities said fed the Ohio fire that killed 32 persons.

—The expert hired by the nursing homes themselves believes fire safety standards to be inadequate for the federally financed Hill - Burton hospital construction program and the federal-state matching medical program of medical assistance to the indigent.

"The history of fire prevention and fire protection shows that it often seems to require a fire tragedy to stimulate improvement of life safety from fire in buildings," another witness, Richard E. Stevens of the National Fire Protection Association, told the subcommittee on long-term care of the Senate Special Committee on Aging.

The Harmar House Conva-

cent Center in Marietta, Ohio, was a newly constructed, well-run and pleasant nursing home, a source of pride to the 18,000-population community, witnesses said.

Yet in the span of 12 minutes on the night of Jan. 9, fire believed to have started from a cigarette butt in a patient's room and spread by the rubber-backed nylon carpeting swept most of the building. Twenty-one persons died of asphyxiation within 10 minutes; the final toll reached 32 dead.

"If you'd been in it the day before it happened, you just couldn't have conceived of it," said Marietta Mayor John A. Burnworth.

And the building, said officials met all required standards for fire safety.

Air Controllers Again Plan Restriction On Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air traffic controllers have served notice they may start restricting some services next Sunday — a move the Federal Aviation Administration says would be an illegal strike.

The threat disclosed Tuesday by the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization—PATCO—is the latest round in a dispute over working conditions stretching back for more than a year.

PATCO, which represents 7,800 of FAA's 8,500 journeymen controllers, claims its members now do more than required by their work contract and by government regulations. They say, for example, they allow flights to land more frequently than called for by the contract and rules.

This, coupled with inadequate manpower and antiquated equipment puts too heavy a strain on the controllers, the organization says.

Similar complaints have led to slowdowns at the nation's airports in past months that tied up air traffic for hours and left thousands of passengers stranded at terminals.

The latest effort to settle the dispute floundered when the FAA and PATCO officials could not agree on a meeting.

FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer turned down a request by Michael Rock, PATCO board chairman, for a session with Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe.

Shaffer said it would be difficult for him or Volpe to meet with PATCO officers in view of public statements by Rock.

In a Jan. 23 telegram, Rock told Volpe the PATCO directors had resolved that as of Feb. 15 "all optional air traffic services rendered by our membership, above those required by contract and by regulations," would be withdrawn.

The resolution said the withdrawal referred particularly to "services of the many controllers who are in a condition of fatigue" and "are entitled to a period of respite for reasons of health."

Shaffer replied to Rock's telegram by saying that withholding services would be a disservice to PATCO's members.

The FAA chief said the controller has the most to lose from a slowdown. He said it would be most unfortunate if those workers would have to bear the brunt of illegal actions proposed by the PATCO officers.

But he also said it is impossible for Volpe or him to discuss issues of overtime work with PATCO representatives because of a court suit brought by the organization.

PATCO asked the U. S. District Court Jan. 13 for an injunction to prevent the FAA from working weary traffic controllers overtime or under conditions of strain.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional inquiry into a tragic Ohio nursing home fire has raised the question of whether federal billions have been spent to put elderly Americans in quiet places for their twilight years or in potential crematoriums.

"The lives of thousands of elderly patients are in jeopardy right now, today," charged one witness at hearings that concluded Tuesday after bringing out that:

The nation's old-age health program, medicare, imposes no firm fire safety requirements on the nursing homes that, in 1968, took a half a billion dollars in payments.

The government's own proposed test of flammability for carpeting and rugs would allow to remain on the market the type of carpet authorities said fed the Ohio fire that killed 32 persons.

The expert hired by the nursing homes themselves believes fire safety standards to be inadequate for the federally financed Hill - Burton hospital construction program and the federal-state matching medical-aid program of medical assistance to the indigent.

Claim Government Is Lax On Nursing Home Safety

"The history of fire prevention and fire protection shows that it often seems to require a fire tragedy to stimulate improvement of life safety from fire in buildings," another witness, Richard E. Stevens of the National Fire Protection Association, told the subcommittee on long-term care of the Senate Special Committee on Aging.

The Harmer House Conva-

cent Center in Marietta, Ohio, was a newly constructed, well-run and pleasant nursing home, a source of pride to the 18,000-population community, witnesses said.

Yet in the span of 12 minutes on the night of Jan. 9, fire believed to have started from a cigarette butt in a patient's room and spread by the rubber-backed nylon carpeting swept most of the building. Twenty-one persons died of asphyxiation within 10 minutes; the final toll reached 32 dead.

"If you'd been in it the day before it happened, you just couldn't have conceived of it," said Marietta Mayor John A. Burnworth.

And the building, said officials met all required standards for fire safety.

Telephone Crush

Whatever else Alexander Graham Bell started when he invented the telephone, he certainly deserves credit for spanning the communications gap. Well, credit may not be exactly the word.

Every year telephone companies in the U.S. install millions of new telephones. In many places, more telephones are installed than there are additions to the population. Washington, D. C., for instance.

One might expect to find the greatest concentration of telephones in the nation's capital. According to the latest telephone records, there now are more phones than people in Washington. No one seems to know precisely how many people live in Washington (the ebb and flow of politics, perhaps?), but all estimates claim fewer people than the 860,000 telephones now in use.

No other city comes close to Washington in the telephone-people ratio. New York City probably is second, with 70 phones per 100 inhabitants. The U.S. average is 54. Paris has something of a continental record with 57; London has 41, and Tokyo 36.

Then there is Mexico City, with only nine telephones for each 100 residents. No wonder the Latins are still able to enjoy an afternoon siesta.

Courts And Chaos

It should be apparent by now that the radical element is not going to cooperate with any segment of the established society it is seeking to destroy. Nowhere has this been more conspicuous than in the increasing number of turbulent courtroom antics by way-out "liberals."

The "Chicago 7" trial is one case in point. The defendants are engaged in an effort to disrupt, harass and disparage the court. Another is the Black Panther hearing in New York, where the defendants, in court for pretrial motions on bomb-conspiracy charges, shattered the proceedings with shouts, threats, heckling and physical outbursts.

Bearing responsibility in large measure for the aberrant behavior are, of course, the defense attorneys. As Justice Murtagh observed in the New York case, "the manner in which counsel addresses the court has an inescapable effect on the defendants."

Too Tough On Pesticides?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Senator Ed Muskie of Maine and Senator Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, both Democrats, are hoping to ride to glory on the anti-pollution issue. But President Richard Nixon is proud that he — and the Republican Party along with him — will get there first.

This is the sort of political competition that must help more than it can possibly hurt. And whether the Democrats or the Republicans run off with the credit hardly matters. How unpolitically pleasant it would be to swim again in the lakes or rivers of one's youth, or to take the winter sun in southern California without battling smog on one's way in and out of Los Angeles, or to eat shellfish picked up on a Long Island Sound beach. The politician that can lead the American people in a successful crusade to clean up the environment will surely merit support on a non-partisan basis.

One's personal feeling of elan about the coming battle for a decontaminated world, however, is a little dashed when one has one's nose rubbed in the scientific complexity of some of the choices that lie ahead of us. Do we actually know where the balance lies when it comes to applying pesticides, for example? DDT is supposedly bad, for certain species of birds at any rate. But it is also bad for disease-bearing mosquitoes and flies and many crop-eating insects.

The Federal government, listening to the anti-DDT clamor, has decided in favor of the birds, which means that the mosquitoes are going to get a reprieve, too. But now a most unusual warning comes from a friend of mine, Robert Sullivan of Sheerlund Forest, Penn., who is in the business of growing Christmas trees. He says that complete elimination of DDT could mean the end of Christmas trees as we know them.

The reason is that, since the growing abandonment of DDT, the gypsy moth is on the move again. It has been infesting progressively larger forest areas of New England, New York, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania, and has been moving into Canada and Virginia. John A. Koch, president of the Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers' Association, tells of one large isolated patch of trees in Centre County, Pennsylvania, that has been completely denuded of foliage.

In the case of deciduous trees, the stripping of the leaves is not immediately fatal, though growth is naturally stopped while the tree waits for a new springtime suit of greenery. Deciduous trees can stand some punishment, but not too much. With conifers, however, death invariably follows a first complete defoliation.

Once before in our history we stood to lose much of the tree cover of northeastern America. The gypsy moth, imported to the U.S. in 1869 for silk experiments only to turn into a pest, was brought under control by arsenate sprays. But arsenates had such a dangerously high toxicity that they had to be banned, and the gypsy moth started to come back. Trees were being decimated again in New England until, as a result of DDT applications after World War II, the gypsy moth was reduced to one small colony.

Mr. Koch and Mr. Sullivan do not profess to be ecologists. And neither of them wants to witness the "silent spring" that Rachel Carson predicted if pesticides were to kill off the birds. But unless we can come up with a good substitute for DDT, we may get a "silent spring" anyway. As Mr. Koch puts it, "I wonder what all the birds and the bees will be doing when there aren't any leaves on any of the trees?"

Mr. Koch and Mr. Sullivan, since they raise tree crops, might be accused of making self-serving statements. But Hardin B. Jones, a professor of medical physics and physiology at the University of California in Berkeley, who has no Christmas tree investment to defend, thinks that DDT is a "remarkable compound which has done more than any other chemical to make the world comfortable and to increase the food supply." Of all the pesticides, says Professor Jones, "DDT is the safest. At high levels it is destroyed rapidly by body tissues; at low levels it is metabolically inactive and harmless, simply dissolved in body fat. The use of organic pesticides was a significant step of improvement because therefore many foods were contaminated with arsenic and lead containing pesticides which probably did have a detrimental effect on health."

Professor Hardin Jones is wary of the promise of the Berkeley Left to get aboard the anti-pollution crusade. "The activists of the Left," he says, "succeed in inducing chaos wherever they operate. Perhaps that is what they intend to do as a means of destroying the world's food supply?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A TOURIST, driving through a college campus, approached the area where the class in logic was holding an outdoor session under the guidance of a distinguished, but now somewhat eccentric, old professor. Suddenly, the tourist stopped short before a great pile of stones with a light atop it. "What's that light here?" yelled the tourist. "To keep fellows like you from plowing into the stones," the professor yelled back. "Well, what are the stones for?" persisted the tourist. "That should be obvious," announced the professor, turning to his students for approval. "The stones are there to put the light on."

A youngster with thick glasses was upbraided by his mother for punctuating his conversation with a string of four-letter words. "But, Mother," he expostulated, "Norman Mailer and Tennessee Williams use those words all the time." "So what?" snapped the mother. "Don't play with them!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our neighbors have just told us that their infant son needs an operation to relieve an obstruction of his stomach. I have been trying to tell them that this is not possible, and that they should seek a consultation. Is such a condition really possible?

Mrs. T.C.S., Ohio Dear Mrs. S.: This is not meant to be a chastisement for offering your kind and solicitous advice to your friends and neighbors. I am sure that you are motivated to do so by a real desire to help them during a period of distress. However, within the framework of your kindness, I am sure that you added unnecessary confusion to their concern.

It has been said that everyone has two businesses, their own and show business. To paraphrase this, I, as a physician, believe that everyone has a third business, namely, a part-time medical and psychological adviser. Permit me to tell you that the chances are great that untrained medical advice is always hazardous. Such medical direction must come only from the doctor who is equipped to give it.

You can be certain that the doctor who has been treating the child came to this conclusion after intensive examination. It does happen that a child is occasionally born with a condition known as pyloric stenosis. A strange enlargement of a muscle in the intestinal wall tends to obstruct the passage of food as it leaves the stomach and goes into the small intestine.

Surgery for this condition is performed with great skill and with excellent anesthesia. The operation takes only a few minutes after the abdomen is opened and within forty-eight hours, the child is well on his way to recovery without any further trace of intestinal obstruction. It is interesting that this condition seems to occur three times more often in infant boys than girls. Rarely if ever is there any after-effect and there is no impairment to growth or health in later life.

Berlin's Future To Be Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic observers say the Soviet Union, responding to Western initiatives, has agreed to hold four-power talks on the future of Berlin.

However, the observers said Tuesday, although the Western powers suggested discussions on specific matters to make life easier for all of Berlin's residents, the Soviet answer indicates Moscow wants to talk only about West Berlin.

U.S., British and French embassies in Moscow received notes from the Soviets Tuesday. The one addressed to the Americans is under careful study by U.S. officials, the observers said.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The small investor has had an awful fight for survival during the past year or so. That he survives with something of his old spirit remaining is a tribute to his guts.

He was doing all right in the stock market, or at least as well as some of the supposedly more talented professionals. But then brokers all over the country began turning down his business, even though he paid cash on the line.

The reason, as we know now, is that brokers suddenly discovered they weren't making money on small business. They began penalizing their own registered representatives for bringing in small orders. And so, after a decade of hearing himself acclaimed as the line soldier in the battle for free enterprise, the small guy was dumped. All those ads about owning a piece of America ceased abruptly. The romance was over.

This was the first hint to the little guy that he really wasn't wanted in the high finance game. He had seen interest rates soar to the highest in a century and he saw a lot of big lenders grow rich on loans.

He couldn't take advantage of the situation though. Federal laws kept the rates on his savings account at 4 per cent in a commercial bank and 5 per cent in a savings bank. This left him with a return barely adequate to keep even with the erosions of inflation.

Early this year the Federal Reserve did permit commercial banks to raise passbook interest to 4.5 per cent from 4, and up to 5.5 per cent if the depositor was willing to leave his money in the bank at least one year. Savings banks kept the 5 per cent rate on passbooks and went to 5.75 per cent on one-year deposits.

If that was a victory it wasn't a profitable one. Inflation had taken a rocket burst late in the year and that extra one-half of one per cent return on commercial bank savings didn't keep pace. He was told, in effect, to try to be happy in his misery.

When he went to borrow for a house—or, to put it another way, to invest in a house—he found a different situation existed. Interest rates in housing were breaking right through the old usury laws and heading toward 9 per cent.

Still, the small investor is the kind of a person who doesn't expect any favors. He makes do, shifts for himself, and tries to make the best out of difficult situations. He found ways to deal with his problem.

For loans he went to his life insurance company, where by law he is entitled to borrow the cash value of his policy for 5 or 6 per cent. By late in the year life insurers had $12 billion out on such loans.

He also discovered such esoteric investments as Treasury bills and was familiarly calling them T-bills by the end of the year. Usually the big investors got these, but if the U.S. government was paying 8 per cent, then the little guy wanted some of them too.

He should have known that the T-bill avenue would be blocked. It hasn't yet, but there's speculation that it is about to be closed. It's quite a story.

Nobody has announced the move yet, but some Treasury people won't deny that they're considering raising the smallest unit of T-bill from $1,000 to as much as $10,000. That's like raising the net in a basketball game.

What in the world will the little investor do then? It's not clear right now, but you can bet that somehow he'll make out, asking no favors and being offered none.

Peter Sellers Likes New Star System Despite Loss

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's new kind of star system in the movie industry, and Peter Sellers approves of it.

This, despite the fact that he'll probably not be earning the $750,000 per picture which he has been able to exact in the past.

Sellers was here for the premiere of his new film, "The Magic Christian," and we talked on the telephone. He sounded cheery about the film business, despite the gloom that hovers over Hollywood and London.

"The Magic Christian" is not a great message picture," he remarked, "but it does illustrate the power of money, how it can corrupt, and the ways in which it can corrupt. And money indeed was what caused the downfall of this very industry—movies."

"The studios are closing up because they were making the wrong kind of films. They thought that all they had to do was pour money into films, and that would do the trick. But it didn't."

"Along came an 'Easy Rider' which showed that a lot of money could be made from a very inexpensive movie. That makes it a much better investment than a 'Hello, Dolly.' Whatever its merits and I haven't seen the picture yet—Hello, Dolly!"

will be a long time paying back its cost, as well as the interest on the money."

Sellers conceded that the pursuit of money by stars and their agents also contributed to disruption of the film industry.

"How can any one person say that he is worth $500,000, $750,000 or a million dollars to a picture?" he commented. "In the old days, that might have been true. I can recall when I was a movie nut as a boy, I went to many bad films just because my favorite stars were in them."

"But that's not true today. The younger audience goes to see the end product, not the stars. They wouldn't care if God himself was in the picture; they wouldn't go unless they were interested in the story."

The British star admitted that he had gone for big salaries and "in one or two instances I should have been more careful." Example: "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas"—"a beautiful film, but it was hacked up in the cutting room."

Now he declines film deals unless controls are retained by the creative figures—himself, the director, etc. This means foregoing his usual star salary, which is what he and Ringo Starr did with "The Magic Christian."

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Telephone Crush

Whatever else Alexander Graham Bell started when he invented the telephone, he certainly deserves credit for spanning the communications gap. Well, credit may not be exactly the word.

Every year telephone companies in the U.S. install millions of new telephones. In many places, more telephones are installed than there are additions to the population. Washington, D. C., for instance.

One might expect to find the greatest concentration of telephones in the nation's capital. According to the latest telephone records, there now are more phones than people in Washington. No one seems to know precisely how many people live in Washington (the ebb and flow of politics, perhaps?), but all estimates claim fewer people than the 860,000 telephones now in use.

No other city comes close to Washington in the telephone-people ratio. New York City probably is second, with 70 phones per 100 inhabitants. The U.S. average is 54. Paris has something of a continental record with 57; London has 41, and Tokyo 36.

Then there is Mexico City, with only nine telephones for each 100 residents. No wonder the Latins are still able to enjoy an afternoon siesta.

Courts And Chaos

It should be apparent by now that the radical element is not going to cooperate with any segment of the established society it is seeking to destroy. Nowhere has this been more conspicuous than in the increasing number of turbulent courtroom antics by way-out "liberals."

The "Chicago 7" trial is one case in point. The defendants are engaged in an effort to disrupt, harass and disparage the court. Another is the Black Panther hearing in New York, where the defendants, in court for pretrial motions on bomb-conspiracy charges, shattered the proceedings with shouts, threats, heckling and physical outbreaks.

Bearing responsibility in large measure for the aberrant behavior are, of course, the defense attorneys. As Justice Murtagh observed in the New York case, "the manner in which counsel addresses the court has an inescapable effect on the defendants."

Too Tough On Pesticides?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Senator Ed Muskie of Maine and Senator Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, both Democrats, are hoping to ride to glory on the anti-pollution issue. But President Richard Nixon is bound that he — and the Republican Party along with him — will get there first.

This is the sort of political competition that must help more than it can possibly hurt. And whether the Democrats or the Republicans run off with the credit hardly matters. How unpolitically pleasant it would be to swim again in the lakes or rivers of one's youth, or to take the winter sun in southern California without battling smog on one's way in and out of Los Angeles, or to eat shellfish picked up on a Long Island Sound beach. The politician that can lead the American people in a successful crusade to clean up the environment will surely merit support on a non-partisan basis.

One's personal feeling of clan about the coming battle for a decontaminated world, however, is a little dashed when one has one's nose rubbed in the scientific complexity of some of the choices that lie ahead of us. Do we actually know where the balance lies when it comes to applying pesticides, for example? DDT is supposedly bad, for certain species of birds at any rate. But it is also bad for disease-bearing mosquitoes and flies and many crop-eating insects.

The Federal government, listening to the anti-DDT clamor, has decided in favor of the birds, which means that the mosquitoes are going to get a reprieve, too. But now a most unusual warning comes from a friend of mine, Robert Sullivan of Sheerlund Forest, Penn., who is in the business of growing Christmas trees. He says that complete elimination of DDT could mean the end of Christmas trees as we know them.

The reason is that, since the growing abandonment of DDT, the gypsy moth is on the move again. It has been infesting progressively larger forest areas of New England, New York, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania, and has been moving into Canada and Virginia. John A. Koch, president of the Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers' Association, tells of one large isolated patch of trees in Centre County, Pennsylvania, that has been completely denuded of foliage.

In the case of deciduous trees, the stripping of the leaves is not immediately fatal, though growth is naturally stopped while the tree waits for a new springtime suit of greenery. Deciduous trees can stand some punishment, but not too much. With conifers, however, death invariably follows a first complete defoliation.

Once before in our history we stood to lose much of the tree cover of northeastern America. The gypsy moth, imported to the U.S. in 1869 for silk experiments only to turn into a pest, was brought under control by arsenate sprays. But arsenates had such a dangerously high toxicity that they had to be banned, and the gypsy moth started to come back. Trees were being decimated again in New England until, as a result of DDT applications after World War II, the gypsy moth was reduced to one small colony.

Mr. Koch and Mr. Sullivan do not profess to be ecologists. And neither of them wants to witness the "silent spring" that Rachel Carson predicted if pesticides were to kill off the birds. But unless we can come up with a good substitute for DDT, we may get a "silent spring" anyway. As Mr. Koch puts it, "I wonder what all the birds and the bees will be doing when there aren't any leaves on any of the trees?"

Mr. Koch and Mr. Sullivan, since they raise tree crops, might be accused of making self-serving statements. But Hardin B. Jones, a professor of medical physics and physiology at the University of California in Berkeley, who has no Christmas tree investment to defend, thinks that DDT is a "remarkable compound which has done more than any other chemical to make the world comfortable and to increase the food supply." Of all the pesticides, says Professor Jones, "DDT is the safest. At high levels it is destroyed rapidly by body tissues; at low levels it is metabolically inactive and harmless, simply dissolved in body fat. The use of organic pesticides was a significant step of improvement because therefore many foods were contaminated with arsenic and lead containing pesticides which probably did have a detrimental effect on health."

Professor Hardin Jones is wary of the promise of the Berkeley Left to get aboard the anti-pollution crusade. "The activists of the Left," he says, "succeed in inducing chaos wherever they operate. Perhaps that is what they intend to do as a means of destroying the world's food supply?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A TOURIST, driving through a college campus, approached the area where the class in logic was holding an outdoor session under the guidance of a distinguished, but now somewhat eccentric, old professor. Suddenly, the tourist stopped short before a great pile of stones with a light atop it.

"What's that light here?" yelled the tourist. "To keep fellows like you from plowing into the stones," the professor yelled back. "Well, what are the stones for?" persisted the tourist. "That should be obvious," announced the professor, turning to his students for approval. "The stones are there to put the light on."

A youngster with thick glasses was upbraided by his mother for punctuating his conversation with a string of four-letter words. "But, Mother," he expostulated, "Norman Mailer and Tennessee Williams use those words all the time." "So what?" snapped the mother. "Don't play with them!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our neighbors have just told us that their infant son needs an operation to relieve an obstruction of his stomach. I have been trying to tell them that this is not possible, and that they should seek a consultation. Is such a condition really possible?

Mrs. T.C.S., Ohio

Dear Mrs. S.: This is not meant to be a chastisement for offering your kind and solicitous advice to your friends and neighbors. I am sure that you are motivated to do so by a real desire to help them during a period of distress. However, within the framework of your kindness, I am sure that you added unnecessary confusion to their concern.

It has been said that everyone has two businesses, their own and show business. To paraphrase this, I, as a physician, believe that everyone has a third business, namely, a part-time medical and psychological adviser. Permit me to tell you that the chances are great that untrained medical advice is always hazardous. Such medical direction must come only from the doctor who is equipped to give it.

You can be certain that the doctor who has been treating the child came to this conclusion after intensive examination. It does happen that a child is occasionally born with a condition known as pyloric stenosis. A strange enlargement of a muscle in the intestinal wall tends to obstruct the passage of food as it leaves the stomach and goes into the small intestine.

Surgery for this condition is performed with great skill and with excellent anesthesia. The operation takes only a few minutes after the abdomen is opened and within forty-eight hours, the child is well on his way to recovery without any further trace of intestinal obstruction. It is interesting that this condition seems to occur three times more often in infant boys than girls. Rarely if ever there is any after-effect and there is no impairment to growth or health in later life.

I was feeding squirrels in Central Park. One of them, in his hurry to take a peanut out of my hand, bit my finger and made it bleed. What is the danger of contracting rabies this way?

Mrs. M.G., New York

Dear Mrs. G.: I want my readers to know that this was not a letter but rather a telephone call made to me when you were in a state of panic about it. I feel that my readers might be interested to know that it came as a great surprise to me that not a single case of rabies due to a squirrel bite was recorded during the past three years.

I had called the Public Health Service and the Board of Health and was gratified to learn that, contrary to general knowledge, squirrels are not active carriers of rabies. These statistics were given to me in New York City.

However, I want to emphasize that any bite by dogs, squirrels, cats, foxes, raccoons and other animals must not be casually overlooked. If the Board of Health gives clearance, then you can rest comfortably and with a feeling of safety. Do not, however, come to this conclusion without the doctor's or the public health officials' very definite advice.

Compulsive gambling can destroy a family. It needs expert psychological advice.

Berlin's Future To Be Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic observers say the Soviet Union, responding to Western initiatives, has agreed to hold four-power talks on the future of Berlin.

However, the observers said Tuesday, although the Western powers suggested discussions on specific matters to make life easier for all of Berlin's residents, the Soviet answer indicates Moscow wants to talk only about West Berlin.

U.S., British and French embassies in Moscow received notes from the Soviets Tuesday. The one addressed to the Americans is under careful study by U.S. officials, the observers said.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The small investor has had an awful fight for survival during the past year or so. That he survives with something of his old spirit remaining is a tribute to his guts.

He was doing all right in the stock market, or at least as well as some of the supposedly more talented professionals. But then brokers all over the country began turning down his business, even though he paid cash on the line.

The reason, as we know now, is that brokers suddenly discovered they weren't making money on small business. They began penalizing their own registered representatives for bringing in small orders.

And so, after a decade of hearing himself acclaimed as the line soldier in the battle for free enterprise, the small guy was dumped. All those ads about owning a piece of America ceased abruptly. The romance was over.

This was the first hint to the little guy that he really wasn't wanted in the high finance game. He had seen interest rates soar to the highest in a century and he saw a lot of big lenders grow rich on loans.

He couldn't take advantage of the situation though. Federal laws kept the rates on his savings account at 4 per cent in a commercial bank and 5 per cent in a savings bank. This left him with a return barely adequate to keep even with the erosions of inflation.

Early this year the Federal Reserve did permit commercial banks to raise passbook interest to 4.5 per cent from 4, and up to 5.5 per cent if the depositor was willing to leave his money in the bank at least one year. Savings banks kept the 5 per cent rate on passbooks and went to 5.75 per cent on one-year deposits.

If that was a victory it wasn't a profitable one. Inflation had taken a rocket burst late in the year and that extra one-half of one per cent return on commercial bank savings didn't keep pace. He was told, in effect, to try to be happy in his misery.

When he went to borrow for a house—or to put it another way, to invest in a house—he found a different situation existed. Interest rates in housing were breaking right through the old usury laws and heading toward 9 per cent.

Still, the small investor is the kind of a person who doesn't expect any favors. He makes do, shifts for himself, and tries to make the best out of difficult situations. He found ways to deal with his problem.

For loans he went to his life insurance company, where by law he is entitled to borrow the cash value of his policy for 5 or 6 per cent. By late in the year life insurers had $12 billion out on such loans.

He also discovered such esoteric investments as Treasury bills and was familiarly calling them T-bills by the end of the year. Usually the big investors got these, but if the U.S. government was paying 8 per cent, then the little guy wanted some of them too.

Nobody has announced the move yet, but some Treasury people won't deny that they're considering raising the smallest unit of T-bill from $1,000 to as much as $10,000. That's like raising the net in a basketball game.

What in the world will the little investor do then? It's not clear right now, but you can bet that somehow he'll make out, asking no favors and being offered none.

According to Boyle

By JOY STILLEY
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — For those who earn their living in New York City, getting there isn't half the fun—it's twice the work.

Whatever onerous tasks they are required to perform once they reach their destination, it's like a vacation compared with the ordeal of journeying to their jobs.

Just pushing your way onto a subway during rush hours is an achievement akin to eating only one peanut. Once in, your entire attention must be devoted to breathing in counterpoint to fellow travelers. Should everyone happen to exhale at once, the steel walls of the car would be forced outward.

New York City subway riders are known as straphangers, but there are a few fallacies in this designation: 1. The metal hoops are accessible only to those of basketball-playing proportions; 2. The ratio of straps to standees is somewhere in the vicinity of 1 to 30; and 3. It isn't necessary to hang onto anything—there's no room to sway with the lurches of the train, let alone actually fall.

While under some circumstances staring into a man's eyes can be romantic, an orb-to-orb confrontation in a jammed subway car is only embarrassing. After 15 minutes of such intimacy I feel that when we part I should at least mutter some pleasantry like, "Nice seeing you." But it's a bit difficult to say anything, since he shoves me in the mouth in his effort to maneuver his way through the door.

What I do to pass the time is to play a little game called "guess who's getting off first." With the proper mixture of cunning, courage, clairvoyance and willingness to cause a few casualties, I can perhaps get a seat. The trouble is, I always stalk the wrong prey.

"This fellow's a stockbroker type," I reason to myself. "He will stay on until Wall Street." So I turn my back on him and concentrate on the girl who has just packed all her belongings neatly in her shopping bag, tied a scarf around her head and turned her attention to the door, apparently determining the quickest exit route.

My "stockbroker" friend gets off at the very next station, but a more gifted guesser, fletter of foot and more aggressive of nature, has grabbed his seat. My ready-for-flight candidate is still perched for a fast getaway when I reach my stop.

I used to get a great deal of sympathy from my coworkers who traveled in comparative comfort by rail. But recently trains bringing them in from Connecticut, Westchester and Long Island have been suffering too from the run-down, slow-down, break-down syndrome.

Now they've joined me as participants in the Fun City Commuter Follies.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Dear Abby: Is An Expensive Gift The Solution?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is very much in love with an older man. He is very well-to-do and is known to everyone for his generosity and kindness. He has children by his deceased wife and is extremely considerate of them. He is constantly giving them expensive gifts.

This man professes to love my daughter. He calls her and sees her often. He has told her that she is the only person in the world he truly loves, yet he has never given her any kind of gift. Not even at Christmas time. (She gave HIM a gift.)

My daughter thinks that this man can do no wrong, and she idolizes him anyway. I am apprehensive. What do you think?

APPREHENSIVE MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I think that you would not be nearly so "apprehensive" had this man given your daughter a costly "bauble" for Christmas. Perhaps he declined to do so at this point because with his reputation for "generosity" he didn't want her to feel that he was "buying" her love. Since your daughter "idolizes" him anyway, don't be so quick to point out his clay feet. They may be gold.

DEAR ABBY: Just a word to that mother who was lamenting the fact that her daughter was pregnant and unmarried. She agonized that she would never be able to hold her first grandchild in her arms.

Well, Abby, if that mother would just pull herself together and face facts, she COULD hold her first grandchild in her arms. She should welcome her daughter back, accept the child, and help bring it up, and help her daughter to make something of herself.

May I say that I will never hold a grandchild in MY arms but not for the same reason as this lady. You see, my ONLY child is a homosexual.

Tell that lady I would rather be in HER shoes any day. She doesn't know what trouble is.

NAME WITHHELD
DEAR NAME: If you would face your situation realistically, you may come to the conclusion that while your lot is hard to accept it is not the most tragic in the world. Many homosexuals live useful, happy lives. It is possible that a mother who has lost her child in death could conceivably be happy to change shoes with you.

DEAR ABBY: I have long been an admirer of yours, but I never thought I'd be writing to you. Perhaps I can help "Desperate," the middle-aged woman who felt that she was close to insanity because her husband was having an affair. I think I know how she feels because I have been there. You have some good years left. Use them. If you have an education, use it. If you haven't, get one, and get it in something marketable and suitable for an older person. Hospitals and social services are begging for qualified help, and you don't have to be a cutie in a miniskirt to get a job either. Help people in mental institutions. Don't end up in one.

Stiffen your backbone. Condition yourself not to care too much about what your husband is doing, you can't do anything about it anyway. Hate him if you must. Sometimes hate provides the push that love cannot.

And while I have your ear, Abby, I want to tell you that you once gave the best advice I ever had: "If you act like a doormat, people will walk on you."

Well, I was, and they did. But not anymore.

"MAKING IT"
CONFIDENTIAL TO "A READER IN ORMOND BEACH, FLA.": Thank you for your intelligent though critical letter. You are right. I was wrong. I appreciated your writing. I can learn more from thoughtful criticism than flattering praise.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Mrs. Larry Wing, president, conducted the devotions with the reading of the 25th chapter of St. Matthew, verses 31-46; this chapter of Matthew coincides with the theme, "The Christian in Society."

During the business meeting the president announced that the Conference Convention will be held April 7 at St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Logan, O. Delegate is Keitha Wing and alternate is Wanita Will. The Methodist Church will be host to the World Day of Prayer Service 1:30 p.m. Mar. 6. Mrs. Merton Lorentz made the announcement that David Peterman at the Clara Rose Rest Home will be 100 years old Feb. 14. The District Convention of the ALCW will be held in Cincinnati this year on June 25-27.

The president introduced Madelyn Sanders, education secretary, who showed a film strip about a man in a bubble and his name was Charlie Christian. The title of the film was, "All Doctrine is Social Doctrine," and it portrayed the kind of religion that Charlie practiced, a - go - to - church - every-Sunday-and - don't - bother - the - world religion; Charlie thought that religion should stay in the church and not get mixed up in world problems.

His thoughts were let's not care about the war in Vietnam, let's not care about the millions of people that are hungry, let's not care about whether our black brothers are mistreated. Members said, "This is Charlie Christian's religion, is it yours?" "We hope Charlie will soon see the light, that religion can't stay out of the world. Jesus associated with tax collectors, he ate with the outcasts and so we must do as Jesus did; we must care about Vietnam, the hungry people, our black brothers and so many other problems plaguing our society."

Following the film strip the group was invited to have refreshments served by the members of the Mary Circle. The table was decorated in a pink and white color scheme, the centerpiece was a red heart carrying out the Valentine theme.

Gloeckner, who heads the plainclothes division and has been in the force for nearly 34 years, said he based his decision on personal reasons.

He will be acting police chief until March 1 and after that provisional chief until a new man is appointed to succeed Robert Baus, who is retiring.

Hays Backs French Sale Of Warplanes

PARIS (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, says the French were justified in selling 110 Mirage warplanes to Libya.

"If somebody's got to supply planes to Libya, I'd rather it be France than Russia," said Hays, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Hays reported on his conversations with Premier Jacques Chaban - Delmas and Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann.

"I've been told that if France hadn't sold the aircraft, then Russia would have," Hays said. "Personally, I would prefer to see fewer sales by everyone, including us and the Russians."

Hays said he believes France and the United States are closer together now than they have been in recent years.

And, despite official French nervousness over President Georges Pompidou's upcoming visit to the United States, Hays predicted Pompidou "will get a good welcome."

Leased - Housing Program Scored As Failing In Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Families with as much as $33,000 in savings have been accepted into a special federal housing program while poor families in substandard dwellings remain on waiting lists, according to a government watchdog agency.

A report released by the General Accounting Office suggested Congress consider "whether the leased-housing program should be operated so as to give housing priority to low income persons who are not adequately housed."

The GAO, the investigating arm of Congress, remained low-keyed Tuesday in its criticism of the four-year-old plan, designed to supplement the nation's public housing stock.

But the report made clear it considered there to be serious failings in the administration and operation of the program.

The GAO called for several changes in the program allowing local housing authorities to add to their stock of low-income housing by leasing living space from private landlords.

The program, administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, is one of several designed to meet the crisis posed by the shortage of low-income housing, particularly in the major cities. One study has estimated that eight million low income families live in substandard housing.

The report, based on inspection trips to 11 unidentified locations, found that:

—Eight of the 11 authorities studied, "with HUD's approval and encouragement," were using the program to help persons already living in standard housing "while applicants on waiting lists for federally assisted housing continued to live in substandard dwellings."

—In many cases, local authorities negotiated higher rents for the leased units than had been charged the same tenants for the same quarters prior to the start of the program.

—Some authorities were opening the program to persons with large amounts of assets, including one tenant with $33,500 in savings and another with $24,000.

—Two of the authorities studied were not always affording low-income families on the waiting list a chance to take part in the leasing program.

The report suggested imposing asset limitations on those seeking admission to leased housing.

Calley Case Continues

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Defense counsel for Lt. William L. Calley Jr., in a surprise move Wednesday, announced it would not call his former commanding officer to testify on the question of "command influence" in the decision to charge the young soldier with murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians.

Col. Lon D. Marlowe Jr., 55, who retired last Nov. 1 had been called to testify and was outside the courtroom waiting to appear when George Latimer, Calley's chief defense counsel, made his announcement.

"The reason we didn't call Col. Marlowe is because I didn't think we needed him," Latimer replied.

Marlowe was Calley's commanding officer at the time charges stemming from the alleged massacre at My Lai in March 1968 were being investigated and prepared for filing by the Army.

Latimer is seeking in pretrial arguments before Military Judge Reid W. Kennedy to have the charges thrown out on grounds that command influence from President Nixon down through the Department of Defense played a role in the decision to try Calley.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Highlights of the Ice Capades" on NBC Wednesday night was ablaze with sparkling color and was a visual treat.

Ice shows have become more elaborate as more families get color sets.

And color is increasingly important to full enjoyment of TV spectacles. It is unfortunate that fewer than 24 million of the 55 million TV-equipped homes have color sets.

In content, the Ice Capades was practically indistinguishable from other ice shows. It had the soloist, the duet, the clown and of course the production numbers, plus elaborate scenery and sparkling costumes.

There were also the usual nonskating stars, in this case Bobbie Gentry and Lorne Greene who walked around the slippery surface with caution and sang acceptably.

These programs are enormously popular with family

Leased - Housing Program Scored As Failing In Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Families with as much as $33,000 in savings have been accepted into a special federal housing program while poor families in substandard dwellings remain on waiting lists, according to a government watchdog agency.

A report released by the General Accounting Office suggested Congress consider "whether the leased-housing program should be operated so as to give housing priority to low income persons who are not adequately housed."

The GAO, the investigating arm of Congress, remained low-keyed Tuesday in its criticism of the four-year-old plan, designed to supplement the nation's public housing stock.

But the report made clear it considered there to be serious failings in the administration and operation of the program.

The GAO called for several changes in the program allowing local housing authorities to add to their stock of low-income housing by leasing living space from private landlords.

The program, administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, is one of several designed to meet the crisis posed by the shortage of low-income housing, particularly in the major cities. One study has estimated that eight million low income families live in substandard housing.

The report, based on inspection trips to 11 unidentified locations, found that:

—Eight of the 11 authorities studied, "with HUD's approval and encouragement," were using the program to help persons already living in standard housing "while applicants on waiting lists for federally assisted housing continued to live in substandard dwellings."

—In many cases, local authorities negotiated higher rents for the leased units than had been charged the same tenants for the same quarters prior to the start of the program.

—Some authorities were opening the program to persons with large amounts of assets, including one tenant with $33,500 in savings and another with $24,000.

—Two of the authorities studied were not always affording low-income families on the waiting list a chance to take part in the leasing program.

The report suggested imposing asset limitations on those seeking admission to leased housing.

Calley Case Continues

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Defense counsel for Lt. William L. Calley Jr., in a surprise move Wednesday, announced it would not call his former commanding officer to testify on the question of "command influence" in the decision to charge the young soldier with murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians.

Col. Lon D. Marlowe Jr., 55, who retired last Nov. 1 had been called to testify and was outside the courtroom waiting to appear when George Latimer, Calley's chief defense counsel, made his announcement.

"The reason we didn't call Col. Marlowe is because I didn't think we needed him," Latimer replied.

Marlowe was Calley's commanding officer at the time charges stemming from the alleged massacre at My Lai in March 1968 were being investigated and prepared for filing by the Army.

Latimer is seeking in pretrial arguments before Military Judge Reid W. Kennedy to have the charges thrown out on grounds that command influence from President Nixon down through the Department of Defense played a role in the decision to try Calley.

Johnny Carson will spend two weeks, starting Monday, working out of NBC's Burbank studios.

The film studio that produced NBC's recent "World Premiere" drama "My Sweet Charlie" is so impressed by its reception that it slapped it right into a New York moviehouse for a run and is now busily pitching a series starring Patty Duke to a network for next season.

The film, with Miss Duke playing a white girl in trouble who is befriended by a Negro, racked up the biggest audience for any movie broadcast this season and drew critics' praise. The question is whether audiences will pay to see something that could have been viewed for nothing.

Mitchell Says Gangsters Infiltrate Air Freight Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The air freight industry at one of the nation's largest airports is "trapped" by gangsters, U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says.

He did not say which airport, but his remarks Tuesday recalled charges made two years ago by the New York State Investigation Commission that organized crime had infiltrated the freight trade at Kennedy Airport.

Mitchell said thievery was rampant at the airport he was thinking of. Losses from thefts at Kennedy Airport have run into the millions in recent years. Only a month ago five men were arrested in the theft of $200,000 in jewelry, coins and watches.

Mitchell told 400 New York Bond Club members Tuesday that the freight trade at the unidentified airport "is trapped between a racketeer-dominated trade union on one hand and a racketeer trade association on the other."

Mitchell said gangsters who had infiltrated the trucking business could watch shipments and steal anything of value. He said his office was investigating.

He also said organized crime had begun to operate "with a great deal of efficiency and profit" in stealing stocks and bonds. He said $45 million in securities had been lost or stolen in the first nine months of 1969 alone.

Mitchell said the Justice Department was negotiating with the New York Stock Exchange to set up a permanent $250,000 fund that would be used for undercover men to purchase stolen stocks as evidence.

He also said his department would begin making raids of banks suspected of dealing in stolen securities.

Jim Brown Wants Stars To Help Fight Poverty

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss. (AP) — Jim Brown, who led a score of black professional football players through a Mississippi Negro slum area, called on stars of the sports and entertainment world today to join his fight against poverty.

"Athletes and show people represent a potent force in the country today," said the 230-pound onetime fullback of the Cleveland Browns, now a successful movie actor and head of the Black Economic Union.

"They make good salaries. They are in the public eye. They are educated and sophisticated. No other group can do more if they apply themselves to the problem."

The brawny, bearded giant, dressed in a mod blue knit suit that looked like winter pajamas, escorted a collection of the nation's finest football talent through some of the impoverished neighborhoods of Marshall County Wednesday.

"We've adopted Marshall County," Brown said. "Our aim is to see that the hungry people are fed and the men who don't have jobs get work."

Setting off from the Lorraine Motel in Memphis, where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was slain nearly two years ago, Brown and his group traveled by chartered bus to this north Mississippi community, seat of a largely agricultural and cattle county of 26,000 population—18,000 of them black.

One of the chief points of interest was an old abandoned restaurant on the outskirts of Holly Springs where Mattie Horns and her family make their home.

There were no windows. All openings were shuttered with cardboard and further closed to drafts by wax paper.

Mrs. Horns, three sons, a daughter-in-law and three young children all sleep in one room, piled with straw, buckets and debris.

Mrs. Horns said the entire family lived on a welfare check sent monthly to one of her sons.

Prince Charles Joins Parliament

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, took his seat in the House of Lords and got his flying license on the same day.

He wore the traditional crimson and ermine robes of a peer for the induction ceremony Wednesday and stayed for several hours to hear the House discuss farm credit, race relations and the problems of British youth.

The prince won his flying license after 40 hours of aerial training and passing two written examinations.

Fight Closes School In Lima

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Lima Senior High School was closed today while teachers met to discuss racial disorders Wednesday which left two students injured.

The discussions were to include possible disciplinary action against participants in the fights.

Principal Merlyn Sykes decided to cancel today's classes during a meeting with students, parents and teachers Wednesday afternoon.

The disturbances began after white students walked out of a black history week program featuring a Negro poet, Sykes said the poet used "the language of the streets" in outlining Negro history.

McCarthy To Stay With Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the reluctant Democrat who only a month ago was talking of helping form a new party, now says he may stay in the fold.

In his most conciliatory gesture to the Democratic party in a year, the Minnesota senator said if the party maintains its present course, "It would be quite easy for me to stay within the party in 1972."

Before, during, and after his unsuccessful 1968 bid for the presidency, there was talk in the McCarthy camp that he would lead a new political movement, primarily based on opposition to the Vietnam war.

Last Jan. 12, McCarthy told newsmen in Paris he might help form a new political party in 1972 but would not lead it. He told American students there if the American people are not given an adequate political choice in the next presidential campaign, "there may be an obligation on those concerned with political life" to offer such a party.

Because of the George Wallace movement, he said, any new party "would hope to be considered a fourth rather than a third party."

But the senator spoke enthusiastically about the Democratic party as he chatted with reporters in the Senate radio-television gallery Wednesday.

He had just announced his opposition to President Nixon's choice for the Supreme Court, Judge G. Harrold Carswell.

"The party is beginning to look pretty good," he said. "It is beginning to look like the party I was describing back in 1968."

McCarthy, who in 1968 led youthful legions in opposition to the Vietnam war, had said he would not seek the Democratic presidential nomination again in 1972—nor will he run for re-election as a Democrat this fall.

He praised the statement put out by the Democratic Policy Council earlier this week as "pretty representative of Democrats today. It was a very good statement."

The statement called for total U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam within 18 months and urged rejection of the Safeguard antibalistic missile and the Supreme Court nomination of Carswell.

But he said that the party has a long way to go in implementing procedural reforms. He praised the work of Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, in the effort, but didn't mention South Dakota Sen. George S. McGovern, chairman of the reform group and a likely 1972 contender.

As for his own political prospects, McCarthy said "I don't have any re-election or election plans at this time." But he added, in response to a question about running for the Senate from New York, that "legally, it's possible."

The other two sons worked at odd jobs.

"It is staggering that people live like this in the 20th century," said Brown.

"My mom told me about conditions like this but I would never believe it," said Brig Owens, a safety man for the Washington Redskins. "She told me about living in Texas where snakes came up through the floor and the wind whistled through holes in the wall."

"I wouldn't let my dog live in a place like this," commented Cid Edwards, St. Louis Cardinals halfback.

The athletes paid their own expenses to join Brown on his mission. They saw the charred skeleton of a black school that had been bombed last October, rows of rickety shacks, children barefoot and in tattered clothes.

Brown and the football players met with community leaders, then returned to Memphis to attend a party arranged by black friends there.

Attorney General Backs County Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A ruling was given Wednesday by Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown stating that the General Assembly provide only for referendum procedures to repeal a county-wide permissive sales tax and use tax after its adoption by county commissioners.

In an opinion given for Miami County Prosecutor Robert J. Huffman and the county's commissioners, Brown said that the use of the initiative petitions in such repeal action has not been authorized by the legislature.

Miami County commissioners adopted the one-half per cent "piggy-back" county sales and use tax in February, 1969. However, the Miami County Common Pleas Court determined the petitions invalid.

fell on a roller skate. This led to a merry chase. Pictures are simple and clear. So is the story. Picture Book.

"Colors" by John J. Reiss. For the very young, this is a stunning book by a graphic artist. Mr. Reiss has executed his pictures in brilliant shades, and they remind one of some of the newer advertising now presented. Picture book.

"Benje" by Elizabeth Rice. Benje Squirrel lost his bushy, swishable tail in a trap. All his animal friends sympathized, but he was inconsolable. It took the wise barn owl to set Benje straight. "Learn to get along with what you have," he counseled. Benje and the Owl talked all night, and after that, Benje found he could do almost anything he did before — except to swish his tail. Miss Rice's pictures are clear and colorful. Benje is a pathetic little creature without his tail. Yet he looks like a real squirrel, not a hoked-up cartoon character. In fact, all the wild life presented here is accurately drawn and tinted. Picture Book.

"The Glass Valentine" by Marjorie Hopkins, illustrated by Anne Rockwell.

Pictures and text in "Glass Valentine" give the feeling of an old, old fairy tale. Lorenz, an apprentice glass blower, meets a lovely mermaid as he sits by the sea. He decided to make her a valentine of glass. It would have three parts, a clear glass square, a square of lace to fit over it and a heart of red glass to rest on the lace. He began making it at once, but one by one the parts were taken by his companions. Finally only the heart was left. This he took to the sea side, but the mermaid never returned. At last, in disgust, he tossed it into the water, hoping it would reach her. It found its way into the hands of his true love, who turned out to be not the mermaid at all! Good for read-aloud or grades 4-6.

"The Human Eye" by Benjamin N. Shuman, M. D. "The Human Eye" contains a great deal of information on the eye, simplified and well illustrated. Dr. Shuman, who practiced general medicine for seven years, is now a psychiatrist in Chicago. Grades 4-6.

It would have three parts, a clear glass square, a square of lace to fit over it and a heart of red glass to rest on the lace. He began making it at once, but one by one the parts were taken by his companions. Finally only the heart was left. This he took to the sea side, but the mermaid never returned. At last, in disgust, he tossed it into the water, hoping it would reach her. It found its way into the hands of his true love, who turned out to be not the mermaid at all! Good for read-aloud or grades 4-6.

East Coach Hart Appraises Leaders

By GEORGE STRODE
A Circleville Herald Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If there's a man who can appraise Ohio's top-ranked Class AA high school basketball teams this season, it would be Coach Bob Hart of leading champion Columbus East.

Hart, whose Tigers rolled to the 1969 and 1970 State Tournament championships, has seen or sent his scouts to see No. 1 Dayton Cincinnati, No. 2 Columbus Newark, No. 3 Canton McKinley, and No. 4 Zanesville.

Hart looked at the issue of who was the best team, but did offer snippets of the four squads.

On Cincinnati, who beat East 60-52. "The greatest thing is their experience. They started a team of about 5, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 and 6-2 against us."

On Newark, who beat East 60-52. "They are very physical, have a good team speed and their pressure man-to-man defense impressed me. They are a good team offensively, but will not get out too."

On McKinley, who beat East 60-52. "Their kids have played for three years and are very experienced. They have a lot of talent and are capable of running out and tearing a team apart. They blow hot and cold and they have to run to beat us."

On Zanesville, whom he coached in Cleveland, Kennedy: "They lost more than last year. They lost in the state finals in 1969. They are better basketball players and have a better team this season."

On Columbus, which beat East 60-52. "Zanesville is a pre-Thomson team. Zanesville is its defense, both offensively and defensively. They shoot usually plays a zone defense and sticks Eric Jones under the basket. Jones is tough on the boards."

Around Ohio: Jeff Parks, 6-7 Dayton Roosevelt junior, has rejoined the Teddies after he was mistaken as an intruder and shot by his girl friend's father.

New Lebanon Dixie, 1962-66 Class A State Tournament champ for the late Columbus Hines, is perking along at 14-2 for Coach Kern Carpenter, who took Hines' spot. Dixie's lone losses were to Class AA schools.

Rich Davie of Sandusky St. Mary has averaged 43.6 points in the last five games to hike his norm to 34.1 points. Newark shooting 50 per cent as a team for the season, hit 68.3 per cent in a win over Marietta last week.

Jeff Reisinger, 6-6, and Chip Maxwell, 6-0, are the only hold-overs from the Zane Trace team that rolled to a 20-0 regular season record last year. "Frontier's Mike Jarvis had 27 points and 27 rebounds, but his team lost to Skyvue last week 80-66."

Seventh-ranked Toledo Macomber's 6-7 Wardell Jackson, averaging 26 points, vying with Libbey's Charles Houston, 6-1 guard averaging 21.7 points.

Bob Higgins, Conotton Valley sophomore, needs 35 points to pass the 1,000-point mark in two seasons. Gene Ford, 5-8 Indian Valley North guard, has scored 1,023 career points for tenth place in the all-time Tuscarawas County scoring.

MI. Vernon plays its first game in its new 3,300-seat, tar-and-floored gymnasium Friday against Worthington. Dan Weston, 6-4 junior, leads Ridgedale in scoring, rebounds, assists, and field goals and free throw accuracy.

Marshall Upsets Ohio University, 93-88

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"This is the night we've been waiting for," basketball Coach Stewart Way exclaimed after Marshall upended highly touted Ohio University 93-88.

One might have noted a tinge of satisfaction in Way's voice as he commented on the Thundering Herd's Wednesday night upset of the current leader of the Mid-American Conference—the league which suspended Marshall for recruiting practices.

"I've been telling you that one of these nights this team was going to pull it all together," Way said. "When you keep getting a lot of little spurts, sooner or later you'll get a gusher."

Marshall, now 7-11, has been playing spasmodically all season. It is 2-6 against MAC teams.

The Bobcats outscored Marshall 39-34 from the field, but the Thundering Herd won it at the foul line, netting 25 of 30 to OU's 10 of 16.

"I could say we were flat, but we weren't," Bobcat Coach Jim Snyder said. "Our kids went after them and played good ball—Marshall just played better."

Ohio, ranked nationally all season, took an early 11-point lead, but Marshall came back and was ahead 43-42 at halftime.

The two teams battled on even terms through the first 10 minutes of the second half until the Thundering Herd built up a quick six-point lead on a jumper by Dave Smith and two long shots by guard Blaine Henry.

The Bobcats never got closer than four points after that.

Russell Lee paced Marshall with 31 points and Joe Taylor added 25. Greg McDivitt led Ohio now 15-4 on the season, with 27 points, while teammate John Canine scored 18.

Meanwhile, Bowling Green pulled back into a second-place tie in the Mid-American Conference standings by defeating Kent State 65-56 Wednesday night.

Bowling Green took the lead midway through the first half and was ahead 41-28 at halftime. The Falcons held the edge until Kent started fighting back with 7:25 left to play, outscored BG 11-4, and was within four points of the lead with 1:36 remaining.

But then Jim Penix and Dan McLemore each hit two foul shots and McLemore added a jumper to give Bowling Green another comfortable lead.

Penix took scoring honors with 24 points. McLemore had 20. Larry Wilson was high for the Golden Flashes with 16, following.

Stephen F. Austin Widens Lead In Small College Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unbeaten Stephen F. Austin strengthened its grip on the top spot in college division basketball last week with a pair of runaway victories.

The Lumberjacks, who brought their season record to 20-0, through games of last Saturday, with a 93-57 triumph over East Texas State and a 125-86 romp over Sul Ross, remained No. 1 in the nation among the small colleges by a wide margin in today's weekly Associated Press Poll.

They received eight of the 11 first place votes cast by the national panel of sports writers and sportscasters and led runner-up Ashland 195-147 in total points.

Ashland, 18-1 after a pair of victories last week, moved up from the No. 3 spot, changing positions with Youngstown, also 18-1 following a 67-52 loss to Central State of Ohio.

Following the top three were Howard Payne, 21-2; Maryland State, 15-0; Cheyney State, 17-1; St. Mary's Tex., 14-3; Central Washington, 18-1; Southwestern Louisiana, 12-6, and Puget Sound, 16-3.

Howard Payne was fifth in last week's poll, Maryland State eighth, Cheyney sixth, St. Mary's fourth, Central ninth, Southwest Louisiana 13th and Puget Sound 11th. Maryland State and Puget Sound received one first place vote apiece, as did No. 14 Augusta, Ga., 19-1, and unranked a week ago.

South Dakota State, No. 11; Kentucky State, No. 18, and Jackson State, No. 20, also moved up from the unranked list while Gannon, Fairmont State, Stetson and Southwest Missouri dropped out of the Top Twenty after suffering setbacks during last week's play.

Pro Cage Talks Resume

NEW YORK (AP)—Merger talks resumed today between the established National Basketball Association and its three-year-old rival, the American Basketball Association.

Three-man committees from each league were to start discussions over the problems involved in a possible merger.

Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the NBA, and Jack Dolph, commissioner of the ABA, had met Tuesday and announced that the committees would meet at their earliest convenience.

The NBA committee is comprised of Ned Irish of the New York Knicks, Baltimore's Abe Pollin and Sam Schulman of Seattle. The ABA members are Roy Boe of the New York Nets, Richard Tinkham of Indiana and Joseph Geary of Dallas.

Preliminary merger discussions were held last August, but were broken off when the Oakland ABA franchise was moved to Washington, D.C.

Tigers Face Rugged Twinbill Against McClain, Waverly

Circleville High School's basketball team faces a rugged closing weekend, going against Greenfield McClain Friday in their "cracker box gym" and hosting once beaten Waverly Saturday.

Greenfield is always hard to beat in their own gymnasium, and this year they are sharing the South Central Ohio League lead with Washington C. H.

Although they have not won a game outside the league, Greenfield is 7-2 against SCO opponents; Washington is also 7-2.

The Blue Lions host Miami Trace Friday in their league finale.

IN the first game between Greenfield and Circleville, the Red and Black led by six points, 48-42, at the end of three periods, but were outgunned in the fourth quarter and took a 69-60 loss.

Kon Curry scored 21 points against Circleville in that game and Mike Hull tallied 19.

High scorers for the Tigers in the tilt were Charlie Jackson with 24 points and Bryce Brown with 14.

Brown is back in the Tiger lineup after he was sidelined with an injury.

Circleville has a 2-7 league record and even with a win will finish in fifth spot in the league. Overall the Tigers have a 4-12 mark.

In addition to Brown and Jackson, CHS Coach John Lawhorn will probably start Ty Ankrom, Tommy Bowers and Randy Halley.

JACKSON is the league's fourth leading scorer, averaging 16.9 points per game in all games and 15 in loop action.

Hull and Curry rank among the top ten scorers.

Maravich Eyes Record

NEW YORK (AP)—If Pete Maravich fulfills his dream of playing in the National Invitation Tournament, it could enable him to become college basketball's all-time high scorer.

The 6-foot-5 senior from Louisiana State erased Oscar Robertson's major college career record of 2,973 points almost two weeks ago and has since passed four of the six small college players who were ahead of him.

Maravich is a cinch to pass the 3,294 points compiled by Joe Miller of Alderson-Broadus, but with only eight regular season games left, the all-time leader, Grambling's Bob Hopkins at 3,759, seems out of reach... unless LSU makes it to the NIT.

If the Tigers play four tourney games, Maravich would need a 43.0 average to top Hopkins. If it's just two, he would need 51.6.

Maravich isn't the only potential record-breaker on the college courts this season. The only marks in the 11 individual and team categories that seem safe, according to National Collegiate Sports Services, are individual free throw percentage, team scoring defense and team rebounds.

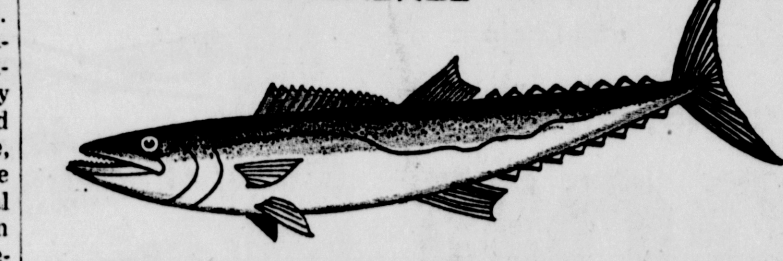

Oregon State's 7-foot Vic Bartolome, the field goal accuracy leader at .687, needs a .630 mark (assuming he continues to shoot the same number per game) to break Lew Alcindor's record of .667 in 1966-67.

Another 7-footer, Jacksonville's 7-2 Artis Gilmore, is averaging 25.2 rebounds a game, just a shade below the record of 25.6 set by Charlie Slack of Marshall in 1954-55.

Rocco Rich Plans To Attend OSU
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Rocco Rich, Canton McKinley's All-Ohio linebacker, says he will attend Ohio State University on a football grant-in-aid.

The 6-foot, 215-pounder played linebacker and fullback at McKinley, and OSU Coach Woody Hayes has indicated he will use him as a linebacker or offensive guard.

24 Cincy Reds Have Signed Pacts

CINCINNATI (AP)—Twenty-four Cincinnati Reds have now signed contracts with the National League team for the 1970 season.

Pitcher Gary Nolan topped the list of the latest six players to agree to terms Wednesday. Nolan, 21, wound up 8-6 with a 3.55 earned run average last year after starting opening day but developing arm trouble and missing much of the season.

Pitchers Al Jackson, Mel Behney, and John Noriega. Catcher Danny Breiden and outfielder Clyde Mashore also signed.

After being acquired from the New York Mets last June, Jackson worked in relief. Noriega hurled in five games with the Reds but had no record.

ed by Tom Lagodich with 15. The Falcons now are 5-2 in the league, tied with Miami for second place behind Ohio University (7-1). The loss was Kent's eighth against no conference wins.

Tim Harman's 19 points was high for Toledo, while Mike Murnen added 17. Frank Russell paced the Titans with 17.

Mount Union whipped Oberlin 70-61 in the only Ohio Conference game of the night. Jim Howell led the Purple Raiders with 26 points and Al Wellington was high scorer for Oberlin with 23.

Bluffton moved into a second place tie with Wilmington in the Mid-Ohio Conference standings by edging Findlay 75-72 in overtime.

In other games, Cleveland State set a new school scoring record, hitting 68.6 from the field while thumping Walsh 117-96; Akron went on a first-half scoring spree to trounce Illinois State 83-60; Central State shut out Wilmington in the last 4½ minutes of play for a solid 72-56 victory, and Washington & Jefferson had little trouble in beating Case Tech 83-69.

Pilots To Stay In Seattle

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — "The American League has given up $650,000 for Lent," a baseball club owner quipped on Ash Wednesday.

It just about sums up a stormy two days of financial football by the league in attempts to turn the Seattle Pilots in the direction of the goal.

But when the meetings broke up, the owners were back where they started—really back farther than that, by $650,000 worth.

What happened was this:
1. They reaffirmed that the franchise will remain in Seattle.

The threat of antitrust suits by Seattle city officials helped make this a rather easy direction.

2. The ownership will remain in the same hands. Bill Daley of Cleveland owns 60 per cent with the Seattle Soriano brothers, Max and Dewey, the rest.

3. The league will dip into its treasury for a $650,000 loan to get the Pilots off the hook for spring training expenses. American League President Joe Cronin said laughingly that no interest rate will be charged.

Meanwhile, the Seattle owners are sure, under the light of the new situation, to refloat a $3.5-million loan that previously had been called in by the Bank of California.

Falling into the background of the near soap opera situation were hotel executive Edward Carlson and his civic-minded group. They fought for the purchase of the franchise at a $9.5-million price tag established by the league.

After presenting a formal application, the Carlson group spent six minutes with league owners Wednesday night and were turned down.

"We had made all the commitments that the league required from us for buying the club," Carlson said. "But our application was turned down. However, we have accomplished our objective—keeping the club in Seattle. That is what counted."

Part of the Carlson program called for a nonprofit factor. "That factor could not fit into operation of a major league baseball club," said Cronin.

ell each scored four more and Havlicek two.

Milwaukee held a 12-point lead early in the final period before Connie Hawkins brought Phoenix within 119-116. But Jon McGlocklin and Greg Smith split four free throws for the Bucks to end the threat.

Lew Alcindor was high for the Bucks with 32; same as Hawkins.

Cincinnati led by only one point entering the final period, but Connie Dierking and Tom Van Arsdale turned the game into an easy victory. Dierking hit 21 of his 27 points in the second half and Van Arsdale finished with 32. Jimmy Walker had 27 for Detroit.

Jim Hillis Named Head Grid Coach

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Jim Hillis has been named head football coach at Warren Western Reserve High School, succeeding Dick Strahm, who quit to become an assistant coach at the University of Toledo.

Hillis has been an assistant coach at Reserve for five seasons.

Lee Trevino Out To Win Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lee Trevino set out today in defense of his Tucson Open golf crown, hungry to win again and dreading only Sunday.

"Ma, if I could get by those Sundays, I'd be in good shape," the free-wheeling Trevino said.

He hasn't won since taking this title a year ago, but has played well this year — except on Sundays.

His scores in final rounds this year have been 74, 75, 77, 73, and 75.

"It's cost a ton of money," he said.

Trevino, a Mexican-American from the Texas border country, caught the nation's fancy when he scored his first victory in the National Open in 1968.

He stayed in the limelight with a quick wit and bubbling personality and continued good play. He followed his open triumph with victories in the Hawaii Open, then in Tucson a year ago.

But he hasn't won since and recently has been plagued with a variety of problems, including a suit against his former business agent Bucky Woy, and a multimillion dollar counter-suit.

And he ran into another problem.

"This guy from the insurance company came up to me on the practice tee," he said, "and man, but got some kind of hot."

"I hit Richard Crawford's caddy with a ball on the driving range at Westchester. Hit him in the collar bone. They took X-rays and said it was cracked."

"Soon as I hit him, I told him, 'Look, I'm insured. You get in touch with the insurance company.' I gave him the name of the company and the number of the policy and everything."

"And now this guy comes up and they still haven't settled with him. Boy, I got hot, I don't know what's going to happen now."

"Trevino was one of the pre-tourney favorites along with Billy Casper and Gene Littler and said he liked his chances."

Davidson Whips South Carolina

By HERSCHL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just when rigor mortis was about to set in the Davidson Wildcats proved to be a most healthy corpse.

"We had taken so much criticism that I guess we were a little mad," said sophomore star Bryan Adrian after the Wildcats ended second-ranked South Carolina's 17-game winning streak 68-62 Wednesday night. "All the sports writers in our area kept saying we were dead. We decided to prove to them we were still alive."

After the first half Davidson looked far from alive. The Wildcats were colder than an air-conditioned icebox as they sank only six of 23 shots and trailed 29-19. But they connected on 16-of-23 in the second half, with Adrian scoring 22 of his 26 points and Mike Maloy, Doug Cook and Jerry Kroll bottling up South Carolina's towering front line.

John Roche was Carolina's only offensive threat with 34 points, including 16 of 16 at the foul line. Maloy held 6-foot-10 Tom Owens, the leading rebounder in the Atlantic Coast Conference, to two points and five rebounds.

"It was great defense by our club and a tremendous second half by Adrian that was the key to victory," said Terry Holland, rookie coach of 13th-ranked Davidson. "We have a great deal of respect for South Carolina, but we were ready for them."

A disappointed Frank McGuire, knowing his team likely will drop a notch or two in next week's poll, gave Davidson full credit.

"We played a very experienced and very aggressive basketball team that simply outplayed us," he said. "Give them credit for a beautiful job. Davidson had position inside on us all night. Maloy played a tremendous game and kept our big man, Owens, away from the boards all night."

St. Bonaventure was the only other Top Twenty team in action and the fourth-ranked Bonnies trimmed Seton Hall 103-83 behind Bob Lanier's 37 points. The Bonnies trailed by five midway through the first half but reeled off nine straight points to take the lead for good.

Pete Maravich settled for 33 points, 10 below his nation-leading average, but Louisiana State still beat Florida 94-85.

Pistol Pete's output gave him 3,244 for his career and pushed him past Dick Barnett of Tennessee State for third place on the all-time career list. He trails the No. 2 man, Joe Miller of Alderson-Broadbush, by 50.

Russell Lee scored 33 points but Marshall needed key tallies by Blaine Henry and Pat Brady to upset heavily favored Ohio U. 93-88. Greg McDivitt paced the losers with 27. Duke edged Wake Forest 67-65 in an ACC contest.

Pilots To Stay In Seattle

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — "The American League has given up $650,000 for Lent," a baseball club owner quipped on Ash Wednesday.

It just about sums up a stormy two days of financial football by the league in attempts to turn the Seattle Pilots in the direction of the goal.

But when the meetings broke up, the owners were back where they started—really back farther than that, by $650,000 worth.

What happened was this:
1. They reaffirmed that the franchise will remain in Seattle.

The threat of antitrust suits by Seattle city officials helped make this a rather easy decision.

2. The ownership will remain in the same hands. Bill Daley of Cleveland owns 60 per cent with the Seattle Soriano brothers, Max and Dewey, the rest.

3. The league will dip into its treasury for a $650,000 loan to get the Pilots off the hook for spring training expenses. American League President Joe Cronin said laughingly that no interest rate will be charged.

Meanwhile, the Seattle owners are sure, under the light of the new situation, to refloat a $3.5-million loan that previously had been called in by the Bank of California.

Falling into the background of the near soap opera situation were hotel executive Edward Carlson and his civic-minded group. They fought for the purchase of the franchise at a $9.5-million price tag established by the league.

After presenting a formal application, the Carlson group spent six minutes with league owners Wednesday night and were turned down.

"We had made all the commitments that the league required from us for buying the club," Carlson said. "But our application was turned down. However, we have accomplished our objective—keeping the club in Seattle. That is what counted."

Part of the Carlson program called for a nonprofit factor. "That factor could not fit into operation of a major league baseball club," said Cronin.

Lee Trevino Out To Win Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lee Trevino set out today in defense of his Tucson Open golf crown, hungry to win again and dreading only Sunday.

"Ma, if I could get by those Sundays, I'd be in good shape," the free-wheeling Trevino said.

He hasn't won since taking this title a year ago, but has played well this year — except on Sundays.

His scores in final rounds this year have been 74, 75, 77, 73, and 75.

"It's cost a ton of money," he said.

Trevino, a Mexican-American from the Texas border country, caught the nation's fancy when he scored his first victory in the National Open in 1968.

He stayed in the limelight with a quick wit and bubbling personality and continued good play. He followed his open triumph with victories in the Hawaii Open, then in Tucson a year ago.

But he hasn't won since and recently has been plagued with a variety of problems, including a suit against his former business agent Bucky Woy, and a multimillion dollar counter-suit.

And he ran into another problem.

"This guy from the insurance company came up to me on the practice tee," he said, "and man, but got some kind of hot."

"I hit Richard Crawford's caddy with a ball on the driving range at Westchester. Hit him in the collar bone. They took X-rays and said it was cracked. 'Soon as I hit him, I told him, 'Look, I'm insured. You get in touch with the insurance company.' I gave him the name of the company and the number of the policy and everything."

"And now this guy comes up and they still haven't settled with him. Boy, I got hot. I don't know what's going to happen now."

"Trevino was one of the pre-tourney favorites along with Billy Casper and Gene Littler and said he liked his chances.

Davidson Whips South Carolina

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just when rigor mortis was about to set in the Davidson Wildcats proved to be a most healthy corpse.

"We had taken so much criticism that I guess we were a little mad," said sophomore star Bryan Adrian after the Wildcats ended second-ranked South Carolina's 17-game winning streak 68-62 Wednesday night. "All the sports writers in our area kept saying we were dead. We decided to prove to them we were still alive."

After the first half Davidson looked far from alive. The Wildcats were colder than an air-conditioned icebox as they sank only six of 23 shots and trailed 29-19. But they connected on 16 of 23 in the second half, with Adrian scoring 22 of his 26 points and Mike Maloy, Doug Cook and Jerry Kroll bottling up South Carolina's towering front line.

John Roche was Carolina's only offensive threat with 34 points, including 16 of 16 at the foul line. Maloy held 6-foot-10 Tom Owens, the leading rebounder in the Atlantic Coast Conference, to two points and five rebounds.

"It was great defense by our club and a tremendous second half by Adrian that was the key to victory," said Terry Holland, rookie coach of 13th-ranked Davidson. "We have a great deal of respect for South Carolina, but we were ready for them."

A disappointed Frank McGuire, knowing his team likely will drop a notch or two in next week's poll, gave Davidson full credit.

"We played a very experienced and very aggressive basketball team that simply outplayed us," he said. "Give them credit for a beautiful job. Davidson had position inside on us all night. Maloy played a tremendous game and kept our big man, Owens, away from the boards all night."

St. Bonaventure was the only other Top Twenty team in action and the fourth-ranked Bonnies trimmed Seton Hall 103-83 behind Bob Lanier's 37 points. The Bonnies trailed by five midway through the first half but reeled off nine straight points to take the lead for good.

Pete Maravich settled for 38 points, 10 below his nation-leading average, but Louisiana State still beat Florida 94-85.

Pistol Pete's output gave him 3,244 for his career and pushed him past Dick Barnett of Tennessee State for third place on the all-time career list. He trails the No. 2 man, Joe Miller of Alderson-Broadbent, by 50.

Russell Lee scored 33 points but Marshall needed key tallies by Blaine Henry and Pat Brady to upset heavily favored Ohio U. 93-88. Greg McDivitt paced the losers with 27. Duke edged Wake Forest 67-65 in an ACC contest.

Vengeful Celtics Defeat New York Knicks, 125-118

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"If a guy punches you in the nose, you want to punch him back."

With that little bit of simple reasoning, Coach Tom Heinsohn sent his struggling Boston Celtics against the short-handed, but still powerful New York Knicks Wednesday night, and the Celtics kayaked the Knicks 125-118 in overtime in a National Basketball Association game.

It was just two weeks ago that the Celtics came into Madison Square Garden and were run off the court by 33 points, prompting a closed-door Boston meeting and subsequently numerous fines.

Although the players shrugged off the thought of revenge, Heinsohn felt it had something to do with the Celtics' fourth victory in five games and New York's second loss in 13.

"Certainly they remembered that game," he said after they overcame Willis Reed's 40 points for the Knicks as John Havlicek scored 30 and Jo Jo White 26 for Boston.

In other games, Milwaukee downed Phoenix 127-120, Cincinnati stopped Detroit 124-113, Atlanta rolled over San Diego 155-131, Los Angeles tripped San Francisco 125-115 and Seattle shaded Baltimore 119-117.

With Walt Frazier ill and Bill Bradley out with a sprained ankle for New York, the Celtics took advantage by becoming the first team to beat the Knicks three times this season.

They pulled ahead for good on baskets by Bailey Howell and Havlicek at the start of the overtime, and White and Howell each scored four more and Havlicek two.

Milwaukee held a 12-point lead early in the final period before Connie Hawkins brought Phoenix within 119-116. But Jon McGlocklin and Greg Smith split four free throws for the Bucks to end the threat.

Lew Alcindor was high for the Bucks with 32; same as Hawkins.

Cincinnati led by only one point entering the final period, but Connie Dierking and Tom Van Arsdale turned the game into an easy victory. Dierking hit 21 of his 27 points in the second half and Van Arsdale finished with 32. Jimmy Walker had 27 for Detroit.

Jim Hillis Named Head Grid Coach

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Jim Hillis has been named head football coach at Warren Western Reserve High School, succeeding Dick Strahm, who quit to become an assistant coach at the University of Toledo.

Hillis has been an assistant coach at Reserve for five seasons.

WESTFALL ART SHOW — Edna Sollars, the chairman of the Art Show is shown with the judge, Mrs. Harry Margolis. This display will be at the high school during the Science Fair. The awards will be announced 7:30 p.m. Thursday. There are 54 entries. Miss Ruth E. Montelius is the art instructor.

Supporting Roles Are Key Ingredient Of Success

One of the ingredients important to the success of every play is accomplished supporting actors.

LOIS SMITH

In Roundtown Players' "The Absence Of A Cello," Lois Smith and Steve Stevenson adequately fulfill this requirement.

Steve Stevenson portrays Otis Clifton, the efficient personnel executive from Baldwin-Nelson, who interviews Andrew Pilgrim. The part calls for a formal, straight-laced precise individual, who Steve says, "is much different from any part I've played before."

STEVE STEVENSON

A native of Pickaway County, Steve's interest in the theatre began in high school and has continued through participation in the Roundtown Players. Steve has appeared in "Splendor In The Grass," Reading Theatre activities and the Pumpkin Show Skit. He is also active in Jaycees, Young Republican Club and the Episcopal Church.

LOIS Smith will be seen in the role of Marian Jellico. As opposed to her brother, Andrew Pilgrim, who is the eccentric professor, Marian is a worldly, confident woman.

Her attempts to snare the company executive with whom her brother is trying to land a well-paying job result in hilarious intrigue.

The play is directed by Ortha Stambaugh who also directed "Wake Up Darling" in which Lois appeared. The combination of professional direction and the development of the actor's own interpretation of the character are characteristic of Mrs.

Shoemaker Announces Local Office Hours

State Representative Myrl Shoemaker will be in his Pickaway County Courthouse office 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Mondays during the current session of the Ohio Legislature. Shoemaker's office is in the basement of the courthouse.

Vic Ross of Columbus, Ga., captains Army's pistol team. The Cadets were unbeaten the last two seasons.

Stambaugh's technique; one which Lois says works well.

Lois is no stranger to Circleville audiences having appeared in "Picnic," "Witness For The Prosecution" and Pumpkin Show skits. She has also worked extensively in the backstage details of productions.

Steve Stevenson and Lois Smith's performances may be seen when "The Absence Of A Cello" is presented February 20, 21 and 22 at Memorial Hall. Tickets may be purchased at Barnhill's, Bingham's, Porter's and Risch's.

Girl Scouts Help Heart Fund Drive

U.S. Youths To Cut Castro Cane

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (AP) — Hundreds of young Americans converged on New Brunswick's chief port today to board a Cuban freighter which will take them to cut sugar cane for Fidel Castro.

A spokesman, Bruce Jacobs of New York, said their purpose was "an act of solidarity with the Cuban revolution" and to protest "Yankee imperialism."

The ship, the Luis Marcos Bergues, was returning 212 other young Americans who had been helping with the cane harvest since November. Port officials said the freighter had been riding out a storm in the Bay of Fundy and was expected to arrive during the afternoon.

Rogers Visits

The U.S. officials declined to say whether Rogers asked Tito to convey any American proposals to the Arab leaders. But Rogers undoubtedly sought to enlist Tito's help in American peace efforts.

Both American and Yugoslav officials said the discussion brought the two countries closer together on the Middle East and other international problems.

Rogers met for an hour today with Emperor Haile Selassie, then was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the emperor. The American secretary also met Diallo Telli, the Guinean diplomat who is secretary-general of the Organization of African Unity, which has its headquarters in Addis Ababa.

Both Haile Selassie and Telli are concerned over the white-supremacy regimes in southern Africa. Rogers undoubtedly pleased them when he declared on his arrival from Tunis Wednesday that these regimes "are contrary to the dignity of man" and an obstacle to progress and stability in Africa.

Rogers continues his 10-nation African tour Friday, following Tito to Nairobi for a meeting with Kenya's President Jomo Kenyatta.

The first busload of 43 youths crossed the Maine-New Brunswick border at 12:30 a.m. at St. Stephen, 85 miles west of Saint John. An estimated 600 young people from cities as far away as Seattle and San Francisco had assembled in Boston, and chartered buses carried them through Maine during the night.

Sugar is Cuba's major export crop, and Castro has proclaimed a goal of 10 million tons this year. But the harvest last year is believed to have totaled less than 5 million tons, and Castro admitted in a speech Monday night the current harvest has run into trouble because of bad weather and delays in getting equipment to the fields.

Calling themselves the Venceremos—or We Shall Overcome—Brigade, the young people were openly admitting their destination after several days of claiming they were going to Saint John to ski. A spokesman in Boston said they had been afraid U.S. border officials would try to stop them.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said the U.S. government can do nothing about Americans traveling to Cuba since the Supreme Court ruled the right to travel cannot be restricted.

"The kids were all up tight," said Jacobs. "They were scared and made up some story about where they were going and why."

He said the youths had been instructed to tell Canadian immigration officials "the truth—their destination and the purpose of their trip."

Canadian immigration officials said that as long as the travelers were honest about their intentions, there would be no difficulty in crossing the border.

Jacobs said the brigade members were paying their own way to Saint John, but none of the youths would answer questions about the source of their funds. Presumably the Cuban government is supplying the ship.

The youths returning today on the Luis Marcos Bergues went to Cuba by plane by way of Mexico City.

N.Y. Crime Rate Shows Decrease

However, figures released Wednesday showed violent crimes—such as murders, rapes, robberies and assaults—increased 7.3 per cent. There were 1,043 murders reported.

Burglaries and larcenies, about two-thirds of all reported crimes, decreased 2.8 per cent.
